

Pastor Considers 'Discrimination' Action Over Eggs

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A Daly City minister Tuesday said he is considering filing a complaint with the State Fair Employment Practices Commission against a Colma restaurant, charging racial discrimination following an episode over the preparation of two fried eggs.

The Rev. Howard Bryant, a Negro, is head of the Daly City

Information and Referral Center on Mission Street and a minister at the Second Baptist Church. He leveled the charge of racial discrimination against the owners of the First Cabin restaurant on San Pedro Road, Colma, after he ordered two eggs "over easy" and said they were served cold and burned on the bottom.

Mrs. Dorothy Moorehouse, owner of the restaurant, denied the allegations and claimed Bryant came into her establishment accompanied by two female companions last Friday noon, looking for trouble.

"That's just not true. I was told by Shelley Fernandes and Esther Lopez that this restaurant was good — and it was convenient for us to eat and discuss business there," Bryant said.

He recounted the incident: "We (Bryant, Lopez and Fernandes) walked into the restaurant about 1 p.m. and after waiting for some time I ordered two eggs over easy. Shelley ordered a tuna sandwich and Mrs. Fernandes asked for an omelette.

Shelley was told the restaurant was out of tuna and she changed her order to an omelette. The eggs arrived cold and burnt and when I told the waitress about this she said, 'We can't cook eggs exactly like everyone wants them,' and she told me to eat them.

"I said I wouldn't because they were not what I had ordered and she took them away and threw them in a garbage can. As I got up to leave three husky men blocked the door and prevented me from leaving," Bryant charged.

Shortly after, a Broadmoor policeman (an officer described simply as Badge No. 6, Fleisch-er) was called to the scene and took the three into the back kitchen "because the restaurant was crowded," Police Chief Ray Savage explained.

Charges and countercharges were hurled around and the officer finally suggested Bryant pay for the meal the two women ordered — but did not eat because of the events.

Bryant refused and was threatened with jail. He was again threatened with jail if he continued to refuse to properly identify himself, the Reverend said.

"But I merely wanted to see the officer's identification at the same time. Certainly I was angry and upset . . . I just can't get used to that kind of treatment in a public eating place. And I'm convinced it was because of my race," Bryant said.

Bryant said he feels "most strongly" the incident had racial overtones and he is taking the matter up not only with the FEPC and Charlison Holland of the State Attorney General's Office for possible violation of the so-called Unruh Act, but also the American Civil Liberties Union.

13-CENT TAX HIKE?

Bruno Councilmen Study the Budget

By DON GRIERSON

San Bruno councilmen are considering a record budget which calls for a 13-cent tax increase, provides $700,000 for flood control and allows a general five per cent "cost of living" pay increase for city employees.

City Manager Gerard S. Verger submitted the proposed $4,385,322 budget at Monday's council meeting, and it will be considered at a special study session Wednesday.

Verger said added expenditures resulting in part from the city's loan of $700,000 to the newly formed San Bruno Creek Flood Control District will necessitate an increase in property taxes from the present

$1.10 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.23.

Though the $700,000 loan to the flood control district will be financed from general fund reserves, the city will lose approximately $35,000 this year in interest which would have been gained on the money, according to the manager.

The $35,000 will be reinstated in the city's budget next year through a special tax upon the flood control district, under present plans.

Verger said salary increases and "a general increase in the level of police and recreational services" account for a large portion of the budget increase.

"All employees' salaries were adjusted to reflect the cost of living increase (approximately 4.8 per cent), and adjustments were also made to some salaries far below the professional level or not in keeping with salaries generally paid for like services elsewhere on the Peninsula."

Of the total proposed 1968-69 budget, $2,469,847 would go to the general fund, $312,710 to the park and recreation fund, $958,220 for capital improvement, $121,300 to the employees' retirement fund; $15,660 for sewer bond appropriations and $501,935 to the water department.

Among capital improvements contemplated this year is the equipping of the new city corporation yard garage, Verger said.

"With completion of the first phase of this project, we contemplate performing repairs on all city-owned vehicles," the manager said.

Completion of the city facility is expected to reduce equipment maintenance costs, and "the garage will be self-supporting after the first year of operation," Verger said.

The five per cent "general increase" in salaries was arrived at after lengthy negotiations with representatives of the Municipal Employees' Association, according to the manager.

Verger said the proposed budget is "in keeping with policy decisions of the council" during the past year, but some minor changes will likely be instituted after the Wednesday study meeting.

$4,170,000
Serramonte
Bid Stands

Leaving to the architect and district administrators any possible cost reductions trustees of the Jefferson High School District Monday night accepted officially the $4,170,000 bid of a Mountain View firm for construction of Serramonte High School in southern Daly City.

The trustees last week accepted the Dickman Construction Company's offer, except as it related to cost, which was over estimates by some $100,000.

The board delayed acceptance of the figure itself until the architects and administrators of the district could attempt to eliminate certain items to reduce the costs.

Several such items were suggested this week, but, according to Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan, the trustees "appeared reluctant" to scrub any of them.

As a result, Morgan pointed out, the board accepted the $4,170,000 bid as submitted, instructing administrators and the architect to reduce the costs where possible without "damaging" either the building or education.

Morgan said such reductions, if any, probably would come through a delay of furniture and equipment purchases.

The base bid of $3,650,000 is accompanied by bids for alternate projects, similarly accepted.

They include $335,000 for a student union; $40,000 for football field bleachers; $5,000 for tennis court practice walls; $40,000 for an all-weather running track and $100,000 for landscaping and irrigation.

Brisbane Acts To Block Fill Transport

Brisbane councilmen have again moved to block a proposal to transfer fill material from San Bruno Mountain to the Bay at Sierra Point by means of a giant conveyor belt.

By a 3-2 vote, the council "re-adopted" an ordinance prohibiting use of "air space above the city's rights-of-way" at Monday's meeting.

A similar ordinance, aimed at thwarting the Crocker Land Company's proposal to move vast amounts of fill "over the city," was adopted several months ago, then later repealed because of protests from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

PG&E officials at that time expressed fears that provisions of the ordinance would in effect render their power line installations in the city illegal.

Voting in favor of the revised ordinance Monday were Mayor John Bell and Councilmen Edward Schwenderlauf and Dr. S. J. Guardino. Councilmen Jess Salmon and Robert McLennon voted against the ordinance.

Ground For Coast Tract Is Broken

Ground was broken at noon Tuesday at Princeton-by-the-Sea for the first phase of Henry Doelger's $500 million San Mateo County Coastside development.

Coastside community leaders and San Mateo County officials were on hand for ceremonies marking the beginning of construction on the new 42-acre residential community just north of Half Moon Bay.

The development follows years of study by the Doelger organization and was arrived at after some delay by the recent tight money situation and on a smaller scale than originally planned a few years ago.

The subdivision, called Princeton-by-the-Sea, was okayed by the county planning commission in May as the first unit of a vast Coastside development on the 14,000-acre Doelger-owned lands. No plans for further developments have been announced however.

The subdivision will feature homes in the $25,000-$30,000 class, with utilities underground.

Taking a particular interest in the Doelger proceedings is the Cabrillo Unified School District, into which most of the proposed Doelger Coastside development will fall and into whose schools the newly arrived families will place their children.

DREAM TOO YOUNG? — Pretty Dorothy Barragan, the new Miss Daly City crowned only last month, has been told she may not be eligible for the Dream Girl Contest because of her age. Miss Barragan is only 16 and the new rules stipulate a single girl must be at least 17 years old.

S.S.F. Okehs Flood Control Project

South San Francisco councilmen approved an "interim" flood control project Monday afternoon, completing the first step toward a solution to one of the city's most vexing problems.

The council gave a green light to a proposal from the George S. Nolte Consulting Civil Engineers Co. for preliminary work on a "box culvert" in the Spruce Avenue area.

The project is one of several alternatives proposed during recent weeks as a means to provide immediate relief from flooding in Francisco Terrace. It will cost approximately $380,000, and will hopefully be completed by the end of this year, according to Mayor Frank Bertucci.

The agreement approved Monday provides for payment of "not more than $30,000" to the Nolte firm for engineering on the project.

The contract contains stipulations allowing the city's engineering staff to perform portions of the work as the project progresses, and the city could reduce the cost somewhat if circumstances permit the staff to participate, according to Public Works Director Louis Goss.

Bus Kills S.F. Woman

An elderly San Francisco woman died at Mary's Help Hospital Monday shortly after she was struck down by a bus at the intersection of San Jose Avenue and Mission Street in Daly City.

Clara Queirolo, 83, of 2507 Nineteenth Street apparently stepped in front of a San Francisco Municipal bus at the San Jose Avenue-Mission Street "turnaround" about 11:45 a.m. She died an hour later at the hospital.

Police said the accident is still under investigation. The bus was driven by Charles Tyner, 28, of San Francisco,

The new culvert is expected to "meet the immediate drainage needs" in the area, city officials said, but further improvements will be required as adjacent watershed areas are developed and upstream drainage facilities improved.

Last January, 29 homes in Francisco Terrace were flooded and damages ran into the thousands of dollars.

Engineers have warned that even worse conditions could occur in the future, because of continuing upstream developments in the Colma Creek watershed.

Louis H. Larson, chief engineer for the Nolte firm, predicted last week that an additional one-and-a-half rise in the water level would result in damage to approximately 50 homes.

City officials have considered numerous possibilities in attempting to solve the flooding problem, including a proposal to purchase all the homes in the area.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers performed a survey of the area last year, but Army officials estimated it would be "at least seven or eight years" before they could provide relief.

S.S.F. 'Ultimatum' On Landscaping

South San Francisco councilmen issued an ultimatum on landscape improvements in the West Park Two Subdivision Monday, and ordered developers to commence work on the project by next Monday, or forfeit a $7,500 bond.

Public Works Director Louis Goss was instructed to proceed with plans to have city crews complete the project if Caesar Callan Homes, Inc., fails to comply with the ultimatum.

Council action came after residents of the area presented a petition signed by 37 homeowners, about 80 per cent of the property owners in the subdivision.

Petitioners noted that the landscape improvements in their neighborhood are "long overdue," and property owners have appealed to the council for assistance in the matter several times in the past.

The subdivision developers have "done nothing toward complying with the city's landscaping requirements in the subdivision," according to the homeowners.

Planners OK An Alleyway House Site

South San Francisco planning commissioners, after a lengthy consideration of the pros and cons of "laneside dwellings," granted a use permit for construction of a new house facing upon an alley off Baden Avenue Monday.

In approving the permit application of Angelo Dappolunio for a single-family dwelling behind 812 Baden, planners noted that "laneside" houses to not jeopardize the orderly growth of the city when such development conforms with the city's building standards.

Alleyside houses were the subject of a controversy in the city several years ago, and planners denied use permits for a number of proposed laneside dwellings in the city's "Old Town" area.

Planners at that time contended the "second dwellings" on lots adjacent to alleys were detrimental to the aesthetics of the city, and issuing use permits for such houses often resulted in the construction of "shacks" in the residential areas.

Commissioners denied permits for several alley dwellings in 1963, but those decisions were overruled by the council.

D.C. Analyst Is Resigning

Ray Letsinger, personnel analyst for the city of Daly City, has sent a letter of resignation to the City Council effective July 15.

Letsinger will assume the post of assistant city manager for San Carlos shortly after leaving Daly City.

He has been with the city for several years and the resignation is said to have come as a surprise.

'MISS D.C.' TOO YOUNG?

Dream Girl Sponsors Want Proof of Age

For 13 years all a single girl needed to participate in the Fiesta Dream Girl contest was a pretty face, a nice figure and a birth certificate proving she was at least 16 years old.

Last year someone in Sacramento decided to change the age limits and the new rulings stipulate the girl must be 17 year old, along with all the other assets needed to win.

Pretty Miss Dorothy Leone Barragan easily beat out 19 other contestants in the recent Miss Daly City contest held last month in the Westmoor High School auditorium and was on her way to challenging San Mateo County's other entries on the July 12 (Friday) Dream Girl Contest — possibly even victories at the higher state level.

But someone asked her age and Miss Barragan smilingly replied she was only 16, but she would celebrate her seventeenth birthday on July 12 — the day of the contest.

Sponsoring officials applauded and breathed a sigh of relief and asked Miss Barragan for a birth certificate to prove her age.

"She just refuses to show it to us," Ron Bates, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored beauty pageant said. "I don't know what we'll do now. My connection with the matter ended with the beauty contest at Westmoor."

Others connected with the Daly City contest were as tight-lipped as Bates and, except for Chamber manager Peter Markovich, declined comment.

Markovich said, "If anyone takes the blame for this goofup, I guess it'll have to be me . . . (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Bruno Council Acts

Crime Prevention Unit Established

By WILL E. THOMAS

Establishment of a six-member Crime Prevention Committee, to study and recommend on four specific areas of San Bruno law enforcement, was directed by the city council Monday night. And Atty. George Corey, who pressed for formation of the committee, announced Tuesday morning his appointee to the unit.

Membership of the committee will be comprised of one non-resident, who will be selected as chairman by the majority of San Bruno councilmen, and five residents, one to be chosen by each of the five councilmen.

Corey said he had forwarded to Mayor George Ingham the name of Thomas Siacotos of 2796 Concord Way, San Bruno, as his appointee to the committee. Siacotos, Corey said, is an official of the Burlingame branch of the Bank of California.

The council, in setting up the committee, stipulated that the citizens' group shall report its findings and recommendations within 90 days — that period to commence July 22, the date of the council's next meeting, when the chairman and members of the committee are to be announced.

The committee's functions will include hearings, studies, findings and recommendations on these four specific items:

- Law enforcement personnel;
- Necessary local legislation for proper law enforcement;
- Law enforcement equipment;
- Public responsibility in aiding law enforcement.

It also was specified that the committee would hold public hearings in at least three different sections of the city, Corey pointed out.

Additionally, it will be required that the report of the committee be made available to the public no later than one city council meeting date after councilmen receive the report.

Corey explained that the council "is not prepared to make any drastic changes in terms of the tax rate, for personnel or equipment, or is the public ready to accept such changes unless it is called to their attention the dire need for such items, if, indeed, they are necessary."

He hopes the committee will (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Dream Girl Sponsors Want Proof of Age

I'll take the blame for the whole thing."

He said his office was aware of the new age ruling "but we thought it would be changed back to 16 years old. Some places — like Placerville — can't even muster enough girls under the new ruling to hold a contest and I was informed this rule might be changed back to 16 before the Dream Girl Contest."

Bates claims he wasn't aware of the new rule "and I just went ahead with the contest the same as every year."

It was a huge success compared to previous years. The auditorium was packed with paying (for the first time) spectators, a band and a record number of pretty contestants.

A sign proclaiming "Miss Daly City Lives Here" was placed on Miss Barragan's front lawn on St. Francis Boulevard shortly after her sweeping win. The sign is no longer there and the new Miss D.C. was not reached for further comment on the matter.

Meanwhile, the brown-eyed, 5 foot, 8 inch (36-25-35) Miss Barragan, daughter of real estate man Guido Barragan, rode on the Fourth of July float in Redwood City and has participated in all other events leading up to the Dream Girl contest.

Normally when the "Queen" is disqualified for any one of several reasons the runner-up takes her place. About six years ago a Miss Daly City was disqualified because she was found to be married and the runner-up took her place in the Dream Girl contest.

From the Dream Girl contest, a girl may enter the State level "Maid of California" contest and all events connected with this function must abide by State rulings.

Markovich said if Miss Barragan did not qualify for the Dream Girl contest there would be no other entrants made by the city.

answer a number of questions in his mind.

For instance, Corey said, "I cannot believe the police department has all the necessary ordinances they need."

He believes the committee will provide some "suggestions to act on."

Corey also believes that one of the most significant areas to be considered are those of public responsibility.

"We are constantly learning," he declared, "of crimes or acts of violence of one kind or another that really should have been observed by somebody, through hearing, seeing or some other sense."

Corey advanced that "until the people are aware they have a responsibility in this area, we will not have well-rounded policing."

The citizens, he said, "have to look — NOT JUST SEE — and pass on any information they have."

Corey emphasized that the committee is not a "police review board."

"It is not that and never was intended to be that," he explained.

The committee is expected to have the full cooperation of Police Chief Russell Cunningham, who noted that "nothing but good could come out of this investigation."

Cunningham pointed out that Corey has "come to me" from time to time asking "what I thought about" several aspects of the committee formation. "We are pulling quite a load for the personnel and the laws that we have," Cunningham said of his department.

million bond issue on a special election ballot September 17, which would bring all district schools to planned capacity and make the district eligible for $3 million more in state building aid. "I just hope Doelger gets something built people can see by then to help the bonds along," Cabrillo Director of Business and Building Leamon A. Hanson commented.

There's evidently no dire emergency for school sites, however, because the district already owns two in El Granada, contiguous to each end of this development, one for the Foothill Elementary School and the other for an intermediate school.

A pickup in building by Doelger could, however, speed up use of the bond money now being sought and bring on another election sooner, Hanson noted. He estimated the new homes, according to statistics, would produce about 1.5 children each for the schools.

Ceremonies at the site today featured planting of the first of thousands of trees, appropriate to the area, part of the developer's announced plan to maintain and enhance the natural beauty of the rugged Coastside country.

Each of the 200 guests attending the groundbreaking received a Monterey Pine seedling as an additional souvenir of the occasion.

Although the first unit involves only 227 single-family homes, the total Doelger program on the Coastside could include development of several thousand acres of land in the areas of Montara, Moss Beach, Princeton, El Granada, Miramar, Half Moon Bay and unincorporated county lands reaching from the city limits of Pacifica to an area south of Half Moon Bay.

Cost of the over-all development is estimated at $500 million. The Princeton-by-the-Sea development will feature early California and ranch style homes situated on lots ranging from 5,000 square feet on up. These first homes will be built between Cabrillo Highway and the foothills across from Half Moon Bay Airport.

Viet Cong Better Armed Is Opinion of Local Vet

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The average Viet Cong soldier is often better armed than his United States counterpart and counts among his arsenal weapons made in Red China, Russia, Czechoslovakia — and France.

This account was given to The Times by a recently returned Vietnam war hero and former Westmoor High School student, Ronald Goodman.

Goodman, who spent more than a year in Vietnam and was discharged in the grade of a Specialist Fifth Class only last week, was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism, along with several slightly lesser awards for outstanding duty during his tour in that war-torn country.

The quiet-spoken, bespectacled youth was assigned to "B" Troop, Third Squadron, Fourth U.S. Cavalry as a radio repairman. He spent much of his time in Vietnam aboard an armored personnel carrier in the front lines.

"The front lines?" Goodman replied to a question "are right outside your window. At night they are on the camp perimeter."

But what "bugs" American GIs fighting for their life in Vietnam is the apparent superiority of enemy weapons, coupled with the fact that many come from "friendly" nations.

Aside from the controversial M-16 carbine which Goodman thinks is "a weapon that can't be beat," other weapons used by the VC are considered better, less bulky and more adaptable to the type of fighting encountered in Vietnam.

"The Russian-made 7.62 machinegun is much better than our M-60. It's less bulky and can be fired from the shoulder with ease. The M-60 only holds 100 rounds of ammo. You stick in the clip and pray it doesn't pop back out."

"And the parts supply for some of our weapons is bad... real bad. They're hard to come by. The VC... they don't seem to have any worries about supplies. If they did, they would strip our disabled trucks and tanks of any weapons and ammo they found, but they just ignore our stuff," Goodman explained.

He said the fact that they, the VC, "ignored the spoils was because they are well supplied."

"Our planes aren't doing too well in cutting those supply lines, contrary to what we're told and what we read in the newspapers," Goodman said.

SPECIALIST FIRST CLASS RONALD GOODMAN examines captured VC anti-aircraft gun made in Red China. He thinks the weapon is far superior to any the U.S. has at present.

The only effective bombing of the VC supply lines and bunkers is accomplished using the giant eight-engine B-52 bombers "and napalm."

Goodman pointed out that the dreaded napalm dropped from smaller jets burns out otherwise hard-to-get enemy troops entrenched deep in partially hidden bunkers, while conventional iron bombs have little effect on the shelters.

"The B-52 bombers are also able to concentrate a heavier bomb load on these emplacements," he said.

Asked if he thought the United States would win the war in Vietnam, Goodman answered: "The U.S. will not win — nor will it lose. It's just one of those frustrating wars that will go on."

On the subject of body counts, Goodman said "these are often inflated figures."

As an example he pointed out that while on a search and destroy mission his outfit counted some 105 dead VC. They left before the burial detail could complete their work. The next day another outfit came through the same area and engaged in a short firefight. When it was over they counted some 130 bodies — the previous day's toll, plus the new total.

This gave the count as some 235 for the area when it should have been only 105, plus whatever the count was from the more recent battle.

"This is a nutty war... we don't capture land, we just count bodies. The more bodies you count, the better they say we're doing," Goodman explained.

Vietnamese children and adopted the village and battle are the best "war weather vane" our forces have in the battle zone.

"If you see children and cattle around a village you know the VC aren't around. But if the cattle are gone you can almost bet the VC are there," Goodman revealed.

GOODMAN (with hat) sits atop his armored personnel carrier outside An Duc awaiting further orders.

He said the children usually reported hiding there. We had pointed out VC hiding places for village of An Duc after VC were a candy bar, and allowed "they friended the natives, but when probably strike the same bar-the enemy moved in we had no gain with the VC — only for choice but to destroy the entire village."

Why don't the Vietnamese support us more? "The people were completely bewildered. First the VC and 'Because they simply don't then the Americans. It's a know if they can thrust us. On rough choice for them to one occasion we had to level the make," Goodman said.

Pacifica Rec Offers Teens New Band

Teen Co-Rec, sponsored by the Park, Beach and Recreation Department, will be held on July 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Oceana gym. Highlights of the evening will be a "Surprise band."

Teen Co-Rec will resume at Terra Nova on Thursday night, July 11, from 7 to 9 p.m. "Surprise Band" will provide the music for the evening.

The Park, Beach and Recreation Department is looking for bands in the area for up-coming Fall Teen and J-Teen dances; auditions will be held on Wednesday nights at Oceana gym from 7 to 9 p.m. and Terra Nova gym on Thursday nights, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The next J-Teen activity, sponsored by the department will be held on Friday night, July 12, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Terra Nova gym. Highlights of the evening will include: basketball, volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, and a record hop.

The second summer dance, conducted by the department will be held on July 19 at Fairmont School from 7 to 9 p.m. Music for the evening will be provided by the "Vertical Hold" one of the top J-Teen groups in the area.

A Perfect Record For Thirty Years

David T. Ray, a veteran of 38 years of teaching at South San Francisco High School quietly retired this summer.

Ray, who has been modestly avoiding any public recognition of his tenure in the district, joined the schools here in 1930. According to Dr. Paul Nielsen he had a perfect attendance, a record during those years. "If he had the same sick leave program 30 years ago that we have today, he'd have more than 500 days accumulated," the superintendent noted.

Petitions Of Recall Posted

Recall petitions against Brisbane Councilmen John Bell and Edwin Schwenderlauf have been posted in that city, one week after each was handed a notice of the action.

Proponents of the recall—Harold C. Marshall, Dee Humrich and Darrel Hansen—have 60 days to get the necessary 260 registered voter signatures needed to put the recall on the ballots.

It was the second such action against a member of the Brisbane council in less than a year. The last recall was filed against Councilman Jess E. Salmon who won a thumping victory in both the recall and recent municipal elections.

Does Your Child Use Dope?

By GEORGE GOLDING

If every narcotics user broke out in purple spots, we'd all know who they are.

But they don't, and they are not that easy to spot unless they are really "strung out." They are no more easy to spot than a drinker is when he's sober.

Even for Experts

Recent revelations of a Marin County school teacher and a San Francisco police sergeant prove how difficult it is, even for experts, to notice the physical signs of marijuana use. Scores of others have used heavy narcotics and continued normal lives for months and years without anyone noticing the signs.

There are signs.

Unusual behavior patterns like being too talky or too quiet, too jumpy or too sleepy, too uncoordinated, too keyed-up, too dopey, or too ready to laugh, are possible danger signs.

Physical symptoms like pupils of the eyes being too large, or too small, shakiness, dry mouth, loss of weight, red and raw nostrils, fever blisters around the upper lips and nose, needle marks on arms or legs. These are danger signs.

Real danger signs. But unusual behavior is the first, according to medical doctors, psychiatrists, police, school officials. This is what parents should be aware of.

Outward Signs

No matter what narcotic or drug a person may use, the behavior resulting from its use will be different than normal. That's the purpose. Here are some of the outward signs that such a purpose exists.

Users of sedatives, including alcohol, barbiturates, Miltown, Nembutal, Seconal, Benadryl and "yellow jackets" or "red devils" may show signs of unclear speech, poor coordination, and later the shakes, although possibly a first elation as the drug quiets normal inhibiting mechanisms. Their eyes tend to become glassy in appearance.

They may act slow, confused, dopey, sleepy, drunk, inattentive in school or at home, and laugh without apparent reason, depending on how much of what they have taken, and how long ago. Mixing depressants with alcohol can be deadly.

Keyed Up

In general, the experts say, users of sedatives tend to be people who "run around" a lot with their group, show little responsibility, and have auto accidents.

Users of stimulants ranging from benzedrine to Dexedrine and on to methamphetamine or "speed," are likely to be keyed up. Under effects of the drug, they tend to have dilated pupils, blink a lot, be shaky and uncoordinated, and to have a dry mouth.

"Speed," by the way, is the one stimulant normally taken by injection. According to Peninsula police officers, 85 per cent of "narcotics kit" people they arrest today are users of Methedrine rather than the harder narcotics. Therefore, "speed" users have the signal characteristics of the hard narcotics user, "needle tracks" on arms or legs or body.

Jumpy, Talkative

Bennies, Dexies and "Speed" make users jumpy, talkative, irritable, easily distracted, unable to sit still, again in relation to how strong a dose is taken, and when.

As any housewife who has doctor's orders to use such pills to control her appetite knows, some of them have side effects, such as stimulating sexual desires.

Mostly, a person using a bit too much dextamphetamine will talk your ear off, keep hard at work or at play, all night, and go to sleep only late at night. That's one reason the "Dexies" or "Bennies" are used, to keep awake on a long drive or during a swinging party.

Trouble sometimes comes when the chemical stimulants are mixed with alcohol, or when they are used excessively, leading to unpredictable and unreasonable behavior, and violence with little cause.

Watch the Eyes

Psychedelics, including marijuana, LSD, STP and DMT among them, are alike in causing dilation of the eyes' pupils. Marijuana tends to make the whites of the eyes bloodshot as well, and many users wear dark glasses almost constantly to protect themselves from glare and to prevent easy detection.

They have a craving for sweets, candies, and sometimes increased appetites for all food.

As the user succumbs to a floating sensation and loses track of time, the psychedelics result in slower, lazier movements, according to the medics.

Moods of psychedelics drug users vary from moments of depression to the dreamy state of lethargy described by "flower children" as floating through life untouched.

Withdrawal

At times, the calmness becomes withdrawal, answers to questions come slowly and are not to the point. With the stronger drugs, there may be terrible fits of panic and terror.

Users of natural psychedelics such as marijuana, morning glory, loco weed, peyote, or synthetics like LSD, tend to become missionaries regarding the use of their drug, and lose interest in school, job, or previous social activities. Even youngsters who are not notably artistic or musical may become entranced with lights and sounds and colors, in painting, making music, and dancing.

There is some disagreement, but apparently the psychedelics drugs, particularly marijuana, do not increase sexual activity.

The psychedelics have one thing in common with the sedatives and stimulants and that is the freakiness that may result from combining their use with alcohol.

Behavior resulting from such mixing is often unpredictable, and the combination psychedelics and drinker is said to be noticeably excitable.

Needle Tracks

Except when they need the drug badly, or when they have been on it for a long time, users of such hard narcotics as heroin are not exceptionally different from anyone else.

There are several provable stories of Peninsula schoolgirls who used heroin for months and years without parents or teachers being aware of it.

Yet the mark of a heroin user is the most certain mark of any drug user: needle marks on the arms or legs.

These "tracks" are a giveaway, and users normally restrict themselves to long sleeved shirts or blouses.

Their eyes may contract to pinpoints and they may wear dark glasses. They may lose weight; but who isn't dieting?

They may be irritable when they need a "fix," and passive or even sleepy, afterward, but who's not jumpy once in a while and sleepy another time?

But the "tracks" are not mistakable for anything else.

For some reason, teen-age users of the hard stuff seem to be mostly girls. Possibly because the habit is expensive and girls can always shoplift sweaters, or turn to prostitution, to earn money. Possibly because many girls have "boy friends" who are older men.

Boys who use the heavy stuff are generally either in their late teens or early 20's. They may steal auto parts to finance the habit, or break into doctors' offices for supplies or they may just have fat allowances or jobs and never have to take such risks.

But the needle marks, they can't disguise.

In the freaky world of drug users, glue sniffers are among the freakiest.

They tend to be the youngest of drug users, and make the greatest risks with their own health. Medical men say there is no question but that sniffing glue, or any of the hydrocarbons such as gasoline, really does cause serious damage to the brain.

Youths in the glue sniffing group might be as young as 11 or 12 years old; they may be 14 or 15 and be in high school.

The drug they use produces signs even more noticeable than heavy narcotics, because they are on the face, obvious redness around the nose and fever blisters.

The glue sniffer, poorly adjusted to his home life, unhappy at school, finds companionship when he gets together with his pals to sniff glue.

Pass the Bag

Hidden behind some bushes or a fence, near the schoolyard most likely, they open a tube of model cement into a paper bag which has been blown up as if they were going to burst it.

Then they pass the bag around, breathing the fumes to their hearts' content.

Glue sniffers are almost always boys who are erratic, impulsive, easily upset, fearful.

Those who know dope users best, know that the glue sniffer will not have a long and happy life, even though he starts young.

That's Mom's best chance to spot him, while he's young.

Another Year on Books

WE'RE BETTING the Daly City Residency Requirement (that archaic stipulation in a city employee's contract that insists he live in the city) will STAY ON THE BOOKS for at least another year—albeit with some hazy medical riders.

We know, we know. For months this tired (but proud, Dear Reader) columnist has predicted the RR would get the boot, but certain whispers have been circulating in certain circles that a certain party (member of a certain board) has once again been bending ears with HIS opinions on the matter, even though the MAJORITY OF THE SAME BOARD HAS VOICED A DIFFERENT VIEW.

AND WE'RE ALSO BETTING the new D.C. budget will top $8 million this year—a guesstimated $500,000 over last year's figure. Even though the council has been axing all kinds of stuff, the normal cost of living has risen, thus dictating a need for more funds in the city's coffers.

Perhaps if the city erased that residence thing, those employees (and others) living outside the city could be taxed.

Kinda like a "Commuter Tax." What's that? Someone else already thought of it? How 'bout a transient tax? Oh, the hotel-motel tax takes care of that. Well, now if we already have a gas tax, auto tax, personal property tax, property tax, income tax (fed.), income tax (state), eat and drink tax, sales tax, fed. excise tax on most things, why not a SURTAX (or is it SIR tax)??? Don't tell me.

CORRECTIONS DEPT. — CHARLES MANNING, the officer who was killed in the line of duty on Jan. 6, 1964, was a BROADMOOR POLICEMAN not Daly City as earlier reported.

SO SORRY SECTION is dedicated this week to FRANK (TOTO) SPADARELLA who won a handsome home entertainment system at the recent Nugget Invitational in Reno. We pointed out in a column two weeks ago that Toto was throwing good money after bad with his weekly golf lessons at the Olympic Club. And after discussing the matter with JOE SARTO of the Doelger Corporation, a sometimes golfing companion of Toto, it is apparent that my statements gave rise to doubts concerning Toto's golfing abilities.

To set the record straight, his recent win at the Nugget and his final score should be sufficient to let everyone know what kind of a game he REALLY plays. Tell us about it, Toto.

POSTCARDING FROM YUGOSLAVIA aboard builder Henry Doelger's yacht, Westlake III, are Superior Judge Frank Blum and Muni Judge Paul Hupf. Quote: "Wonderful trip but weary-eyed from art in Florence and Venice."

MOTTO OF THE WEEK goes to City Roofing Company of South City and Colma: "It WILL Rain Again." That's a statement even the weatherman isn't sure of.

DALY CITY GIVES the county 5 per cent of the hotel-motel tax collected — that's about $3,800 last year. Some councilmen are unhappy over what they are getting for their money. The county is supposed to use the loot to publicize the city to the "outside" world. So far, only a very tiny ad and a one-line plug has appeared in a county brochure. That's mighty expensive advertising, folks.

IT'S POSSIBLE THAT former ABAG official Thomas Traux, accused embezzler of certain funds from that Bay Area organization, has "earned" more than $100,000 a year if you figure what they say he grabbed (about $550,000) and divide that figure into his minimum stay in the Slam. You can't hardly find jobs like that any more.

BOUQUETS TO THE MICHAEL DAWES of 41 Park Plaza Drive, who, while strolling through the Westlake Shopping Center on the Fourth, encountered youngsters tearing out row after row of plants in one of the planter boxes.

After doing their best to stop the young idiots from further destruction they rolled up their sleeves and went to work replanting.

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR, THE POST:

If the Jefferson Elementary School District 50-cent tax increase is voted down on July 30, the state should provide the additional funds required.

Trimming should not be done on school cafeterias or on the transportation of our children. If the state permits the educating of our children in this community to become so complicated, what lure will real estate developers have left to get home-buyers out into the suburbs?

No one wants to go pioneering when they can get convenient luxury living for the same cost, without having the home-ownership headaches of burdensome taxes and maintenance.

And while we're on the subject of education, was it the Family Life opponents that drove God out of the schools? The Citizens for Paternal Right obviously aim to drive out proper sex education. I hope they do not represent the majority. If we parents are doing such a great job of educating our children by ourselves, why don't we just close the schools down entirely. It would save us homeowners a lot in taxes, and Mr. Greenwood could trim the school budget down to the bone.

Funny how we are not told about these problems until about the eleventh hour to voting time.

If I have to trim my household budget down anymore, to enlarge . . . government budgets, this family may have to move to Hippierville.

MARGARET RICHARDSON, Daly City.

Ruth Gordon plays a bracelet rattling, compulsive chatterer whose overpowering neighborliness and consoling personality is smothering, rates another Oscar nomination. For all her friendliness and sympathy, she is cloying and sinister. And as silly as the film's premise may strike one, the woman's knowledge of herbal medicaments and pressing insistence of their health value makes her the prime suspect as the creepiest little old lady of the century.

Patsy Kelly, as grotesque a looking female as you'd expect to find in a haunted house, brings a flat voiced, sarcastic aplomb to her role as one of the Devil's legionnaires.

Ralph Bellamy as a famous society pediatrician, in league with the metaphysical underground and Maurice Evans, whose life is snuffed when he threatens to expose the dark powers of those attending his friend Rosemary, give able and sinister support.

BARBARA

BLADEN

(Post Drama Critic)

A Macabre Film

The popularity of "Rosemary's Baby" now at Cinema 21 attests to the pagan fear modern man still carries, maybe only in his subconscious, of the existence of witches.

Nate Grossman, theater manager hasn't noted any appreciable loss of business due to the Catholic Church's condemnation rating. And except for the uncomplimentary remarks about the Pope, made by Sidney Blackmer who is supposed to be a warlock and non-Christian anyway, I can't see why it was banned. The Church recognizes the existence of Satan and Rosemary certainly believes and prays to God in her terrible struggle with the Devil.

It is a frightening movie, aside from the anti-religious aspect, because we see a woman suffering in the final stages of pregnancy in mortal fear of losing her baby in a human sacrifice. Every woman in the audience will cringe over Mia Farrow's terror and complete helplessness before, during and after the birth.

The young actress gives a stellar performance. She showed little promise of talent in her film debut "Dandy in Aspic" but has a genuine warmth and tenderness coupled with a mature sense of emotional projection. Her double tragedy is that she's just become the bride of a Broadway actor who gains fame and fortune in a pact with the Devil's agents.

THE FILM OWES ITS SUCCESS TO POLISH DIRECTOR ROMAN POLANSKI whose sense of macabre outdoes Hitchcock as evidenced in his "Repulsion." A feeling is created that one is never sure of imagining or actually seeing, but the intrusion of an older couple on the young newlyweds' family life is disquieting from the beginning of the film.

The building in which this nefarious seduction by Satan takes place is termed the Black Bramford, where according to history (per Ira Levin's best selling novel) four horrible murders took place. It's not a spooky place. Visitors to New York will recognize it as any number of similar looking dark stone block buildings facing Central Park West.

But high ceilings, spacious dark paneled rooms where incantations seep through the walls after midnight and secret passages heighten the drama that seems like a bad dream to the contemporary couple who at first laugh off its demonic legend.

JOHN CASSAVETES INHERITS THE LEAST DEVELOPED ROLE of the actor who at first is bored with the affectations of his next door neighbors and then becomes strangely dependent on their advice and companionship. He's convincing enough that one believes his innocence. The extent of his involvement with the Devil is best discovered by the viewer although to reveal the ending wouldn't diminish its shock value, so strong is the buildup.

Ruth Gordon plays a bracelet rattling, compulsive chatterer whose overpowering neighborliness and consoling personality is smothering, rates another Oscar nomination. For all her friendliness and sympathy, she is cloying and sinister. And as silly as the film's premise may strike one, the woman's knowledge of herbal medicaments and pressing insistence of their health value makes her the prime suspect as the creepiest little old lady of the century.

Patsy Kelly, as grotesque a looking female as you'd expect to find in a haunted house, brings a flat voiced, sarcastic aplomb to her role as one of the Devil's legionnaires.

Ralph Bellamy as a famous society pediatrician, in league with the metaphysical underground and Maurice Evans, whose life is snuffed when he threatens to expose the dark powers of those attending his friend Rosemary, give able and sinister support.

Television and Children

ON JULY 1, Drew Pearson's "Mercury-On-Round" carried a list of ten TV shows that the National Association of Better Broadcasting considers detrimental to children.

The list includes The Avengers (ABC), Felony Squad, (ABC), Guns of Will Sonnet, (ABC), Cimarron Strip, (CBS), Man From U.N.C.L.E., (Syndicated), Batman, (ABC), Wild, Wild West, (CBS), The Saint, (NBC), Rat Patrol, (ABC), and Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, (ABC).

This is the second list that the N.A.B.B. has compiled this year. The other was published by Frank Orme, executive vice president in the February issue of Parents' Magazine.

In addition to the shows on the other list there are the FBI, (ABC), Gunsmoke (CBS), Cowboy in Africa, (ABC), Garrison's Gorillas, (ABC), The Invaders, (ABC), NYPD, (ABC), Lost in Space, (CBS), Legend of Custer, (ABC), Daniel Boone (NBC), Tarzan, (NBC), Hondo, (ABC).

Equally condemned by Orme are what he calls "The Saturday Morning Ghetto of Animated Horror." "The worst of these cartoons," he said, "are Super President, Superman, Birdman, Hercules, Super Six, Might Mightor, Space Ghost and Samson and Goliath."

Orme lists these shows as detrimental because they have "far too much brutality, horror and lack of taste." Nearly all of them are scheduled in the evening hours when children have time to watch television.

ON BEHALF OF THE NABB,

LORENE BEASLEY

(Better Business Bureau)

New Discount Program

THE ADMINISTRATION, through the Presidential Commission on Travel and the U.S. Travel Service, is instituting a new discount program to lure foreign visitors to the United States.

Basically, the program calls for the issuance of Hospitality Card to foreigners prior to leaving for the U.S. which will entitle them to discounts offered by cooperating U.S. firms. The card calls for discounts ranging from 50 per cent reduction on domestic air lines to varying reductions for hotels, restaurants, car rentals, shops and stores, entertainment and special events.

Minimum discount offered must be 10 per cent.

THE FACE of the red, white and blue Hospitality Card carries a message of welcome from the President of the United Orme urges parents to view these shows beforehand, or watch them with their children.

Orme calls for parents to study TV program schedules to find more wholesome entertainment. He states that each network series are NBC's "Animal Secrets" and ABC's "Discovery." Both are designed for young people.

A list of other "wholesome" shows include Off to See the Wizard, (ABC), Wonderful World of Color, (NBC), Gentle Ben, (CBS), The Flying Nun, (ABC), Daktari, (CBS), and the perennial Lassie, (CBS).

"These," writes Orme, "have qualities that appeal to children without the destructive violence that characterizes many other shows."

Speaking for the NABB he writes "the burden of the responsibility is on the parents, of course. Millions of youngsters spend more time with TV than they do at school. No parent would fail to inquire if he suspected there was something wrong at his child's school, or if he had questions about the qualification of his child's teachers. Shouldn't some standards be imposed on the broadcaster who selects what the child sees at home?"

THE NATIONAL Association for Better Broadcasting is one of several organizations that are actively engaged in promoting good programming for children.

"Parents," says Orme, "might consider helping them in their endeavors letting broadcasters know their opinions of the quality of particular children's programs. It might help."

States. The back contains space for the bearer's name, country of residence and passport number, the admission stamp and the dispensing agency. It also bears the VISIT USA insignia, framed in blue, which will be displayed throughout the country by participants in the discount program.

Immigration and Naturalization Offices at U.S. ports-of-entry will validate the card upon presentation. The card, effective May 1 through December 31, 1968, will be good for 90 days from the date of validation.

Lists of participating firms will be available to card holders at Ports-of-Embarkation overseas, and at Ports-of-Entry or to interested organizations from the U.S. Travel Service, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

Bar Stool Victim On Critical List

William C. Hagedohn of San Bruno, who police say was slugged with a bar stool Wednesday night, remained in critical condition Friday at Peninsula Hospital.

Hagedohn was injured in a struggle at the Rio Bar, 412 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, which ended with him on the floor being smacked on the head by a bar stool.

Police arrested Signifili Taula, 116 San Felipe Avenue, and charged him with assault with a deadly weapon, namely the bar stool.

Medics said Hagedohn had undergone surgery for removal of a blood clot on the surface of the brain.

Communion, Slides Slated At Broadmoor

The Communion of the Lord's Supper will be held at the 10 a.m. Sunday Service this Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377-87th Street, Daly City.

Leading the service will be the pastor, Rev. Herbert Tweedie, along with elders of the church.

The new church organist, Carl Eagle, will accompany the choir as directed by David Frankberger.

Eagle comes from being organist at the First Baptist Church of Redwood City. Following the worship service, a brief congregational meeting will be held to elect two elders and two deacons to office.

Each showing is one-third of the tour and are at 7:30 p.m. at the church on July 14, July 16, and July 25.

The public is invited.

'Jealous God' Westside Church Pastor's Subject

"A Jealous God" is to be the Sunday sermon topic of Pastor A. David Donnelly of the Westside Baptist Church as he continues a series taken from the book of II Corinthians.

The service also will feature vocalist Roy King, who will be accompanied at the piano by his wife Jeanne.

During the adult worship hour, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson will conduct a primary church service for boys and girls, four through seven years of age. Also, a nursery is provided for babies and toddlers.

An hour emphasized at Westside is the Sunday School each Sunday morning at 9:45.

James McDaniels, superintendent, announced that at this hour 13 age-graded classes are provided. There are two classes for adults, as the philosophy at Westside Baptist is Sunday School for the entire family.

Sunday evening, at 6:15, three Conference Youth groups will meet, and at the 7 p.m. family fellowship gospel hour, Pastor

Donnelly will resume a series of messages dealing with the person and ministry of the Holy Spirit.

Congregational singing will be led by Bill DeLung.

Saturday at 8 a.m. the men's prayer fellowship will meet at the church parsonage.

Minister to Speak On Death Penalty

North County Young Republicans, meeting Monday, July 15, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Pilgrim, 14 Tahoe Court, South San Francisco, will hear the Rev. Thomas Severtson, retired naval chaplain, speak on capital punishment.

Capital punishment is not the hot issue that it has been in the past, but it is not a dead issue, a spokesman says.

"Violence and murder are taking hold of our country. Is capital punishment a cure to our country's disease? This question as well as others, concerning capital punishment will be answered."

Since the arguments on both sides of the issue are frequently based upon religious teachings, the Rev. Mr. Severtson, now serving Grace Lutheran Church in Ukiah, will cover the biblical background of capital punishment as well as the arguments pro and con on the issue. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Mother Saves 2 In Coast Fire

A Pacifica mother carried her two young children from their smoke-charged home last Tuesday after fire started in a four-year-old's bedroom.

Pacifica firemen said Mrs. Carla Marlow of 630 Heather Court led her youngsters, David 4, and Debbie, 18 months, to safety after calling emergency units at about 6 a.m. today.

Mrs. Marlow was sitting in a car, in front of the house, when firemen reached the Sharp Park region home.

Firemen said the blaze started in the four-year-old's bedroom.

Fire Capt. Babe Evans asserted the child apparently was playing with matches.

The bedroom in the child's room was destroyed and there was smoke damage throughout the house, Evans said.

Damage was estimated at $500 by the fire department.

Book 'Magic' Offered At D.C. Library

"There is magic in the world of children's books."

To unlock it for the children of the Daly City — Colma-Broadmoor area, the Jefferson Elementary School District and the City of Daly City are conducting a joint summer reading program.

The libraries in Crocker School at 649 Bellevue and in Franklin D. Roosevelt School near Skyline will be open to the public during the months of July and August.

Each will be staffed by the Daly City Public Library. In

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

WHY IT TAKES COURAGE TO FURNISH A HOME CORRECTLY

If you don't want your home to look the same as almost everyone else's, if you want your furnishings to have character and personality, then you must have courage of your convictions.

It takes a certain amount of courage because most people are tempted to furnish in what they think to be the latest style or trend of the moment, instead of considering the actual needs, likes, and living habits of their families.

Whether you like formal or informal living, traditional or modern, simplicity or elegance, remember it's your home and you should furnish according to the way you and your family want to live.

Would you like to use an Early American rocker? Would you like an abstract painting on the wall of your traditional living room? Would you like to use a traditional lamp in a contemporary room? Then by all means have the courage to do so.

"Something old, something new" is a good idea to break away from sameness in furnishing a room. Also, bear in mind the room. "Something dark, something light; something dull, something bright" to add sparkle and contrast to any room.

Don't make radical changes just for the sake of being different; but if they are changes that'll give the room a lift, if they are changes that you and your family will enjoy living with and looking at, have the courage to go ahead and make them. And, remember, we can help you select exactly what you want.

HEATH'S
DATEBOOK

TO JANIE WHEELER, Salutatorian of the Jefferson High School class of 1968, each person makes what he wants of his own life and his individual ideology is what shapes the whole.

"Your life is what you make it," she observed, "and high school forms the foundation for useful and satisfying lives."

"Each student has the passion to succeed and to achieve great things. There are many trials and opportunities in life. I feel the role of the high school graduate in the community is to try to treat all men with honesty and goodwill with open minds. As I go on to college I hope I will be able to maintain such an ideology as part of my life, as I put my heart into my work and do my best."

Janie, who majored in business education in high school, will continue to follow that course of study when she enters San Francisco State in the fall. She hopes to go into teaching or possibly into administrative business. In conjunction with her studies she will continue working part time in J. C. Penney's Westlake store or obtain on campus employment.

Janie, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler, and brothers David, John and Kenneth, came to California 12 years ago from Hammond, Indiana. Prior to living in Indiana the family had resided in Ridgely, Tennessee. After coming west Janie enrolled in Edison and Hunter's Point Elementary Schools and James Lick Junior High School in San Francisco, and Colma Intermediate School.

ONCE IN JEFFERSON she developed a special admiration for Mrs. Mariclaire De Amicis, her English teacher.

"I think Mrs. DeAmicis taught me a tremendous amount—mainly that reading books is a very important asset in learning and gaining knowledge," Janie said.

"I'll miss all the other teachers and students at Jeff I have known these four short years. When you meet people you learn to cherish their friendships and appreciate them," Janie explained.

During her years at Jefferson Janie Wheeler was a remarkable student, attaining life membership in the California Scholarship Federation and winning the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Certificate of Outstanding Academic Achievement, the Bank of America Plaque for Achievement in the field of Vocational Arts and a $250 scholarship from the Daly City Rotary Club.

A person who takes her church responsibilities seriously, she has been the Youth Group Secretary for her church as well as being her class secretary in both her freshman and senior years. She spends most of her spare time working but has managed to develop some serious interest in reading, outdoor sports and sewing.

ONE OF THE STANDARD QUERIES made of this year's graduates concerned the lack of communication and empathy between generations and Janie's sense of applied religious principles helped her find a personal answer for the problem.

"To me, the 'generation gap' is the lack of communication between different age groups. Many young people refuse to converse with adults whom they feel 'don't understand' them because of this lack of communication. I feel that people should accept other people for what they are and strive to understand and express concern for others at 'their level.' As Christ did when he sat and ate dinner with the sinners and publicans," Janie said.

What about student conduct?
Janie has been thinking about the style and causes of student revolts and distilled the varied causes down to a succinct appraisal.

People in high school and college are dissatisfied with the way society has "run things" thus far. Anti-social acts are a means of showing their disapproval. They are trying different methods in which to say: "Hey, things need to change." By rioting maybe people will stop and say: "What are they trying to express. Maybe we need to alter something in our laws."

There was no Teen Co-Rec at Terra Nova on July 4. Co-Rec will resume on July 11th.

A recent teen dance at Oceana High School was termed "successful." The music for the evening was provided by the "Ambassadors," one of the outstanding groups in the area, led by Mike Damato. The next teen dance will be held July 17, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Oceana Cafeteria.

A Taste of Bacon

Good morning, good cooks.

And what a beautiful day it is, bright and sunny. I always write this with a little prayer in my heart that on the day the Post is deposited on your doorstep, it will still be sunny. For as much as I love the Bay area, I'm forced to admit that today's bright sunshine can become tomorrow's drippy fog.

On that note I'll move right into a recipe that uses bacon drippings as its shortening. These Bacon Grease cookies are delicious and most unusual in their use of bacon grease as a main ingredient.

Mrs. John Moran who lives at 536 MacArthur Drive in Colma sent me this recipe after I exclaimed over the cookies she brought to a class we both attended. This is the danger you run when you serve me something good to eat. I always ask for the recipe.

BACON GREASE COOKIES

2 cups raisins
1 cup water
1 cup bacon grease
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Place the one cup water and two cups raisins in a saucepan and bring to a boil, cook about five minutes, then set aside to cool. Cream together the one cup bacon grease, one and three-fourths cup sugar, add the two eggs and cream again. Sift together the four cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one and three-fourths teaspoons cinnamon and the one-fourth teaspoon each nutmeg, allspice and salt. Add the cooled raisins to the creamed mixture and then add the sifted dry ingredients gradually, beating as you add. Lastly add the vanilla.

Bake on lightly greased cookie sheets in a 375-degree oven about 10 minutes or until nicely browned. This makes almost 8 dozen cookies.

WHILE WE ARE THINKING about making cookies I'd like to include this very tasty and eye-appealing variety. This recipe and the one in last week's column for "Billy Goats" came from a cookbook called The Marina-Airport Wives' Cookbook.

BIRD'S NEST COOKIES

3/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups rolled oats

Cream together the three-fourths cup each shortening and brown sugar. Add the unbeaten egg and one teaspoon vanilla. Beat well. Sift the one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda and one half teaspoon salt together and add to the creamed mixture. Blend well. Lastly fold in the one and one-half cups rolled oats. Mix. Form into one-inch balls and roll in coconut. Place on a greased cookie sheet and flatten a bit. Make a slight depression in each cookie and fill with strawberry jam. Bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes.

MY FAMILY JUST LOVES lamb shanks and just recently I fixed them with a barbecue sauce that we found delicious. The minute they said, "Yum," I said, "I'll tell my Good Cooks about this."

BARBECUED LAMB SHANKS

4 lamb shanks
1 medium onion, sliced
1 can tomato sauce
1 can water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/2 lemon, sliced

Season the lamb shanks with salt and pepper and brown in dutch oven with a small amount of hot fat. (I did the whole job in the oven, placing the dutch oven down on the bottom shelf and turning occasionally until browned. I'm lazy and hate to clean off the grease splatters from the top of the stove.) While the shanks are browning make the sauce as follows:

In a saucepan combine the sliced onion, one can each tomato sauce and water, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one cup chopped celery, one tablespoon brown sugar and slices of lemon. Bring to a boil and then simmer about ten minutes. Pour the sauce over the browned lamb shanks and cover tightly. Bake in 325-degree oven about 2 hours.

I LOVE HAVING A DISH on the shelf. Isn't that a strange sounding statement? What I really mean, is that I love to have the makings of a meal on the shelf of my pantry. Just recently my dear little mother-in-law called to tell me about a recipe that she had used years ago and just happened to recall it and thought I might want to share it with you gals. It has a funny name, but it's easy to make and the ingredients are easy to keep on the shelf, plus that it's delicious.

SHRIMP WIGGLE

1 can shrimp
2 cups green peas
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper to taste.

In a small sauce pan melt the two tablespoons butter, stir in the two tablespoons flour, mixing well. Gradually add the one cup milk, stirring as you add, and cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until it comes to a boil and thickens. Add salt and pepper and allow to simmer. When ready to serve add the one can drained shrimp and two cups cooked green peas. Delicious served over hot biscuits or points of toast.

Still Openings in San Mateo YWCA Summer Program

The San Mateo YWCA is offering a varied program this summer and there is still time to get in on it.

Enrollment will close soon, but there are still a few openings left in most classes.

"Good classes, fine teachers, and the fact that the YWCA is pro-rating class fees to accommodate vacation plans means that your time spent at the Y will be very rewarding," Director Justine Williams explained.

Classes start with the preschool age. The nursery is being held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings.

Children learn new things while being safe and meeting new people. There are also a few openings in creative group play on Thursdays.

Children seven to 12 years old can take advantage of the drawing workshop offered at 9 to 10:30 on Friday mornings.

Teens draw from 10:45 to 12:15 Fridays. This is held at the Daly City War Memorial Building. Julie McKenzie is the teacher. She is a San Francisco artist, graduated with a teaching credential from the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, and is a member of the San Francisco Women Artists.

At the present time she is having a show at the Zellerbach Building in San Francisco. She is also a member of the Marin Society of Artists and has taught at the International Child Art Center, San Francisco, and the Jewish Community Center there. Julie headed the Art Dept. at Bentley School in Berkeley and for 1½ years was art specialist at the John McClaren School in San Francisco.

Bowling for teens begins July 10 at 1 p.m. and anyone interested should contact the YWCA office at once.

Social dance club for adults is open to both singles and couples and is a way to meet people and learn to dance.

Polynesian dance, yoga, and bridge will offer adults a lot of fun. There are openings available in tennis also.

A n y o n e interested should contact the San Mateo YWCA at the Westlake Shopping Center, 375 South Mayfair, Room 217, Daly City.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS...

By Alice Reichert

TIMES HAVE CHANGED, as they say, and every aspect of life from one generation to the next is a change. Pastimes, philosophies, and dreams, all point to a new outlook. One of the many visual differences is the clothes we wear in comparison with those our parents wore.

There was a time when boys wore their hair short, girls wore their skirts long, and no "decent" girl would dare wear pants on a date, or to dinner in her own home.

These teens grew up and got married. At this time they considered themselves liberal minded young adults, and along with style changes, they made changes in their own clothes. This style is much the same as we are asked to conform with today, although the only particular enforcement of conformity is in school wear.

TODAY, TEENS dig long hair, mini-skirts, and midi-skirts, and most girls wear pants any time they can. Because our style changes are so radical, our parents, and those of our parents' generation are uneasy with these changes, sometimes even suspicious of them. They respect our preferences in styles, but we are still asked to meet certain requirements in our school wear. I don't feel this is either necessary or fair.

The only real rule pertaining to dress at Terra Nova is that students use "good taste." This rule restricts long hair and beards on boys, too short or too tight skirts on girls, and pants of culottes for girls. This is "good taste" from the point of view of our parents' generation, but to today's styles it is simply conformity.

Boys should have the right to wear their hair and beards as they wish, as long as they are kept clean, so as not to be offensive to his fellow students. A dirty crewcut can be just as offensive as long hair.

Mini-skirts are disallowed because they are distracting (So why weren't grannies allowed?), but anyone who is distracted by a mini-skirt could just as well be distracted by a pretty face, or a pencil sharpener.

THESE DAYS, women wearing pants are accepted almost anywhere but at school. Even at exclusive parties and dinners, dress pants are worn by women, which often cost far more than a formal gown.

Because we are apt to be "rowdier," "less studious," or "careless" in pants, we are not allowed to wear them. If, however, we were required to keep our school pants as neat as our skirts, we would be no "rowdier" than in skirts.

More, we would be free to explore our studies, and discuss them, being more comfortable. Also, we would spend less time worrying about our clothes during school hours.

Of course, I can't hope to have school rules pertaining to dress drastically changed. I simply feel that these rules are unnecessary, but traditional, and conformist, and the up-and-coming generation is not one of conformity.

IT WAS STANDING ROOM ONLY at Blum's, Tuesday noon, when your Bright Lighter stepped in for a "Melt Away Burger." This tasty bit includes tangy cheese melted over Blum's special ground beef, and chopped onion. Served on a grilled rye bread, it's side dished with a sliced tomato and potato salad. Blum's new policy, which features "The Blumburger," lists seven menu selections — each with a different burger recipe, priced from $1.15 to $1.30. The menu also includes the usual Blum's specials. Take out service is available for food, pastries and ice cream. Special orders may be placed for party cakes for any occasion. Blum's is now open from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday; 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday. Not open Sundays. Plenty of parking in back of the restaurant (parking tickets being validated by Blum's)

INVITING SCENE — Interior shot of San Mateo's Blum's. Booth, counter, and upstairs table service awaits your visit for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

BONNIE JACOBS, a beautiful blonde with a big voice, and the comedy team of Boyland and Peddie are currently in the Playroom of the San Francisco Playhouse Club. They join famed singer Maris Rivers, who stars in the Living Room... If you're taking in the night races at Bay Meadows, these evenings, an ideal spot to enjoy cocktails and dinner before the 8 p.m. post time is Joe's of Hillsdale, in the heart of the Hillsdale Shopping Center. Plenty of easy parking available for everyone... Handsome Budd Reinhold, formerly San Mateo Roost-Akins "skipper," is now a member of the Robert Gates staff in Burlingame. Stopped in to say hello to Bud, the other noonday, and wound up selecting clothes just like I was Phil "Wellington" Lehr, who is a Gates regular. Lehr's hobbies are his San Francisco Steakery, a Mark III Lincoln Continental and Robert Gates Clothes... Mission District V.I.P.'s take particular delight in dining at Bruno's in San Francisco. A virtual art gallery in caricatures line the walls of both the bar and dining room, where celebrities from all walks of life are cleverly depicted in charcoal pixes with admiring glances tossed their way by the V.I.P.'s.

SEBASTIAN'S OF BELMONT is a favorite gathering place of the bowling set. Many of the country's greats stop in for a chat with owners Mike Kerns and Jerry Teaderman. An ideal site for banquets and private parties. Live entertainment on weekends features the Sebastian Three... American and Continental dishes are specialties at Lori's, one of the Peninsula's newest clubs. Al Ward and The Epics back the shows and play for dancing... Fred Martinelli, who has been at the helm of Oliver's in South San Francisco for the past three years, is bringing his dining house right to the front... "All you can eat" is the dinner bell call at the Black Angus, where Chuck Wagon dining is a reality. With a price tag of $1.75 for dinner and $1.40 for luncheon, you can hardly afford to eat at home. Chef James Pearce keeps the pots and pans brimming with delicious food... Ansara's, the Redwood City "food oasis," is repeating the "Champagne Steak Dinner" by popular demand. As an added feature, a glass of gourmet wine is served with all other entrees. Dinner service from 5 p.m.

Mike Kerns

BILL MILLS, Dave Rasmussen, George McCaman and Walter Gum of The Shadows in San Mateo well rate nods of appreciation for presenting the new "Banquet Room" to the Peninsula's dine-out-conscious public. Occupying almost the entire ground floor of the former Crocker-Citizens National Bank Building, the fabulous new dining room is a banquet chairman's dream. On your next luncheon or dinner visit to the Shadows, ask to see it... "Surrender to a Fish and Chips invasion." That's the suggestion of H. Salt, esq., authentic English Fish and Chips Shoppe in San Mateo. Once you "surrender" for one meal, you're a repeat customer from there on in... Taste tip: Abalone Steak at Fabbro's, plus one of Tommy Phipps' "space" cocktails... Pride and joy of the Lamp Post Steak House is their one-of-a-kind in the Bay Area charcoal broiler, which broils your steak while you look on... Food and beverage manager Claude Schroeder keeps things humming at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. Gary Long still "88ing" in his recording style... The Sunday Dollar Dinner special at the Hillsdale Farmers Market gives you 10 good restaurant reasons why you should dine here.

Enjoy Foster's 'Pancakes From Around the World'

LATEST FOODFEST at Foster's and fun for the family event is the new "Pancakes from around the world" contest, which is now in session. Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House, San Mateo, is offering a coupon with 12 listings from Tahiti to Nebraska. Every time you order one of these pancake specials the waitress will stamp your coupon. After you have completed the "circuit" of 12 stops, you receive absolutely FREE one complete chicken dinner (from soup to dessert) — and that means "all the chicken you can eat." Swedish Pancakes is today's special. What a treat! Thin lacy pancakes with Lingon berries and whipped butter. Each week (for the next 11) you will be eligible for coupon stamping. If you're a pancake fancier, eating 12 orders of Foster's delicious cakes in aspan of 12 weeks should prove a dining exploit.

$50,000 Futurity Race This Saturday, July 13

ONE THING FOR SURE: It's your own fault if you haven't enjoyed the night racing at Bay Meadows, California's first night racing program. Racing Tuesdays through Saturday until July 13. The stands are heated and there's dining from 5:30 in the ground-level cafeteria and the Turf Club dining room. Post time for the first race is 8 p.m. Mark your calendar for July 13 — the eve of the $50,000 Futurity Quarter Horse Race (these are the world's fastest horses) and the final day of the meet. Dr. William J. Ward, president and general manager of the California Horse Racing Association, is in charge of the night racing operation... Nick Gust's new Moonraker in Pacifica will make its debut this month. You're in for something new in the way of restaurants. The Moonraker is as exciting and nautical as the name implies... Opening at Turf and Paddock in San Mateo Friday, July 12, are Bob and Avalon Cummins, who will entertain from 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Dr. W. J. Ward

Vince Licata and Crew Now Back From Vacation

VINCE LICATA's restaurant staff is now back from vacation and the Italian and seafood restaurant, and cocktail lounge is now open for business. Understand most of the employees vacationed in Europe, Honolulu, Palm Springs or Bermuda. As for Vince and his lovely wife, Nina, a round-trip to Clear Lake, with a stopover at Russian River, rounded out a "fireside holiday." Welcome back to "knife and fork" action, Vince. Now I can go back on your seafood diet... Three Whirlpool Corporation sales contest winners in Seattle were flown to San Francisco to be honored at a dinner party held at Phil Lehr's Steakery. The men, Les Grant, Duane Miller and Ralph Hansen, were awarded watches by Whirlpool Sales Manager Bob Gies... Vince Licata Peruvian dishes and sea food of all kinds are popular mentions on the menu at Frank Torres' Montara Beach Hotel. A favorite site for wedding parties, Frank Torres' banquet room, which seats up to 250 persons, has its own private bar and dance floor.

PHIL MAITA, the "Little Caesar" of El Camino Real, and Jack McRae, who keep the "home fires burning" at the Fireside Lounge, have another sock show on tap. The Fireside, San Mateo's answer to North Beach and its Broadway, currently features Miss Kaye Marlo, stylized vocalist; Miss Bonnie Parker, who has yet to turn in her "machine gun;" Italy's famed Jovanna, "The nude Bedroom Model," and last, but far from least, Alberto, who presents a nightly fashion show. Added note: Fireside's cocktail waitresses are as precocious and formful as the entertainers. A Topless Contest is a Tuesday-night-only feature with every entree a sure cash prize winner. All amateur talent welcomed... The colorful new Latin Fantasy Revue at Finocchio's, personally produced by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Finocchio, is a smash success. Everyone in the huge cast, the largest in the club's history, takes part in the flashing finale, which ranges from Brazil to Cuba, and points inbetween. Peter Leslie is responsible for the choreography.

POST CARD FROM WILBUR STUMP, the "ageless" piano bar exponent, who states that after July 7 his nimble fingers will once again be independent contractors. In musical words, Wilbur will be looking for a job. Bay Area club owners: Now's your chance to book this musician with an extensive repertoire of piano pleasers. Write, wire or phone Wilbur Stump, 45 Poncetta Drive, Daly City (755-7466)... Here's one for the "in" set: The Spouter Inn, located just off U.S. Highway One, three miles north of Half Moon Bay, on the shores of Miramar Beach. Joe Bostic is manager of this unique spot, which is sort of a tribute to the days of Moby Dick — with its "Whaling day" atmosphere and decor. Open daily from 11 a.m. to midnight, except Monday, serving luncheon, dinner, beer and wine. Also a take out window... The John Hensch Trio, featuring Jac Moses, keeps the crowds at Ron Gianotti's Surf House "By the Bay" in a dancing mood on Friday and Saturday evenings. Excellent lunches and dinners, and a special facility for large groups.

LE PACINI

IT'S ONLY FAIR, we feel, after having indulged ourselves on what's wrong with the Athletics last week, to now give equal space to the Giants.

After all, a guy just can't call himself a bona fide expert sports columnist unless he tells what's wrong with the home team, especially if it's the Giants. Explaining what's wrong with the Giants has become an annual summer ritual among Bay Area sports writers, so why break tradition?

Actually, it's all very simple and nothing, we're sure, that Giant management hasn't already figured out for itself. It's very easy, you see, to be expert on what's wrong with something, but very difficult to be expert on how to make the wrongs right.

What the Giants quite obviously need for starters, is a 1968 Mike McCormick operating at a level even close to reasonable facsimile of the 1967 Mike McCormick (not even 20 wins is really needed; 15 will do.) If he doesn't reach that level soon, Herman Franks is going to have to at least temporarily give up on him in the regular rotation and turn the job over to Bob Bolin, backed by Joe Gibbon and Ron Herbel.

Next, the Giants need Jimmy Davenport's glove at third base as often as possible. Obviously, that isn't possible right now because Davenport's been suffering a case of the olds to go along with numerous minor injuries which wouldn't hamper a book-keeper but which can keep third basemen out of the lineup. If

Giants Win Equal Space

Davenport could hit even .250 he would be a big help. Hitting .220, however, he would be an improvement over anything the Giants have been rotating there lately. At the start of the season, with Davenport at third, the Giants had their tightest infield since their move from New York. Now there's a big hole in the infield defense, and that's where defense is needed most.

failed in his ownership at Kansas City and cannot afford to fail again. . . .

AN ORDINARY FAN sitting in a big league press box just once and not really observing carefully might become disillusioned over the facade of cynicism displayed by sports writers, and often even officials of the home team. Many sports writers will seldom seem to be watching the game, apparently being more interested in wisecracking. Front office men will seldom show a sign of emotion when one of their boys hits a homerun, or even when the enemy has a big inning.

But it's mostly all show, grown men who are boys at heart trying to act like grown men; trying to treat a game as a business, when it's really a game — the money comes later.

One day last week we slyly observed Jerry Donovan, Giant business manager, standing at the rear of the press box chatting casually with press box custodian Ernie Lombardi through the last few innings of a close, tense game. When the Giants came from behind he showed hardly an emotion, this old pro. And then the last inning came and Frank Linzy trudged out to the mound to protect a two-run lead against the fat part of the Atlanta batting order. Lombardi had gone on an errand and Donovan stood by himself. As Linzy stepped on the rubber to face the first man, Donovan said intensely to himself, "Come on, Frank, you gotta hold 'em!"

And then there was the radio sports caster who sat in cynical agony everytime the Giants left a man in scoring position, and there were a considerable number that particular day, and gasped things like, "They're pitiful . . . That's what wrong with the Giants, no clutch hits . . . Can't they do anything right. . . ."

So with the bags loaded for the Giants, two outs and two strikes on rookie Bobby Bonds, who had looked pitiful on two breaking pitches, the Atlanta pitcher came right down the pipe with a fast ball and Bonds singled to tie the game.

An Atlanta sports writer gaped, "I've never seen such lousy pitching . . . These guys are pitiful . . . Can't they do anything right. . . ."

That game ended with the great Henry Aaron bouncing back to the box for a rally ending double play. The Atlanta sports writer threw a pencil in disgust.

The San Francisco radio sportscaster looked around rather sheepishly and said, "I guess nobody likes to lose."

TAG ENDS: Those white shoes, you may have noticed, make all the Oakland A's look flat-footed . . . If you're complaining about Jimmy Hart not hitting up to his potential, be grateful that he's hitting as well as he is. He's been playing virtually all season with a shoulder so stiff that he can only "sweep" the bat, rather than snap it.

FINALLY, THE GIANTS need another big, booming bat in the lineup, especially if Willie Mays slows down more than he already has during the long season. In which case they'll need TWO big, booming bats. The way hitters are acting nowadays, and with all of the trading deadlines past, the Giants are going to have to find this big, booming slugger on their own roster or on the farm, and, unfortunately, that looks hopeless. We thought, during early spring, that Ollie Brown might be the man, but he evidently isn't — not this year. So giving up on that big, booming slugger, we have to hope that Jesus Alou gets suddenly hot. Even though he doesn't hit the long one, he would be a big help hitting .300 at the top of the lineup so that there is somebody on base when the big men whack those long balls.

So that's it. Equal space for the Giants and Athletics. We hope it doesn't turn out equal standings for the Giants with the A's.

WHILE WE'RE LUMPING the Giants and Athletics in the same item, it's interesting to note a recent editorial in the Sporting News by publisher C. C. Johnson Spink. The editorial is a general discussion of the need for baseball men to cooperate with each other, more specifically about expansion.

Among other interesting things, Spink makes some worthy comments on the local scene:

"The other day . . . we heard an A. L. owner say that he regretted having voted to permit Charley Finley to move the Athletics . . . to Oakland because of the adverse effects that it is having on the welfare of the . . . Giants.

"It's a shame what we've done (he said), allowing him (Finley) to go to Oakland. All we have done is depreciate the San Francisco franchise without providing the American League with a bright, new franchise.

"We're hurting Horace Stoneham, who has devoted his whole life to baseball. Why should we take and whip him?

"Finley isn't helping the situation. In fact, from what I hear about some of the things he is doing, he is playing dirty pool."

"Unfortunately, it's a dog-eat-dog matter with Finley, who

DC Playground Teen Activities

As summer activities at Westlake School are progressing full steam ahead, each day finds many children participating in various games and activities. Recent winners in an art contest for free form drawing were:

Under five — Trish Houghton; Five to seven — Valentina; seven to nine — Kathy Kavanaugh; nine and over — Janette Bilske.

McHugh's Maudraders whipped the Buccaneers 8 to 3 with McHugh's team including John McHugh, Brian Franz and Scott Houghton. The Buccaneers team includes Don Murray, Mike Silverthorne and Ron Cipri.

Lincoln Park

Movie Day, every Thursday and Cartoon Day every Friday have been drawing more youngsters to Lincoln Park each week. On July 3 it was Tournament Day at the playground for all age groups, with four events for each child: ping-pong, checkers, caroms and paddle pool.

The following boys and girls have looked exceptional in the various events: Ping-pong, Tito and Ed Aleman, Elizabeth Allen and Kenny Danridge; caroms, Ron Ramirez, Jackie Shelton, Donna Olsen and Kim Rudolph.

In recent kickball games, Rich Fern, Clement Williams, Reggie Redmond and Joe Quirarte have been outstanding. Quirarte leads in home runs with 22.

Barbecues

Under the direction of Bill Vince, Daly City recreation leader, barbecues are held at Westlake Park, each Friday and all neighborhood adults and children are welcome. As an added feature, cartoons are shown each week at 12:15 in the clubhouse. The barbecue begins immediately following cartoons at 1 p.m.

Everyone is requested to bring his own food. A fire will be available for outdoor cooking.

Vista Mar

There have been some "exciting things" happening at Vista Mar School Playground this summer. Frank Isla won the carrom tournament and Archie Roboastoff took second place.

The Vista Mar's baseball team has been practicing hard and are looking forward to a good year around the diamond.

Amy Madelyn and Barbara Horn have been very active in the arts and crafts program and have many "masterpieces" hanging in the art gallery.

The Daly City Recreation Department is sponsoring several special events including tournaments, movies, arts and crafts, storytelling.

Junior Teens

The Telstars and Roof Raisers Junior Teen Clubs, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, got the summer off to a good start with a very successful dance. The two clubs have a full list of events coming up.

On July 13, there will be a beach party at Montara Beach in the evening. On July 23, there will be a dance at Westmoor Park Clubhouse with live music. On July 27 there is an all-day trip planned to Santa Cruz.

During the month of August there will be two dances and a bowling event. For additional information call the Daly City Recreation Department, 992-5356.

Hillsbrothers, Popolos Lead Cage League

The Daly City Recreation Department's Summer High School Basketball League concluded its second round of play as wins were registered by the Popolos, Hillsbrothers, and the Kitchen Sank.

The Popolos made it two wins in a row as they defeated the Brownian Movement, 37-35, behind the scoring of Leighton AhFo, Lou Mateucci, and Mike Mjehovich. Mike Brown and Sid Smith paced the losers efforts.

The Hillsbrothers sneaked past the Mother-in-Laws, 47-43, behind the 13-point scoring of Dan Coffey and Brad Quansstrom. Andy Themoleas hit the hoop for 20 points to keep the losers in the games.

The Kitchen Sank smothered the Miracles, 75-31, as Dale Conway, Steve Kirby, Tony Schrock, and Dan Thuenner were all in double figures to pace the scoring attack. Rick Amoroso notched 13 points for the losers.

Participants are looking forward to the trip to Santa Cruz on July 13 and the Bay Cruise and Boat Dance to be held on July 27 on the Harbor King.

At least 150 sign-ups are necessary to insure the success of the Boat Dance so all members from Jefferson and Westside are asked to turn in permission slips as soon as possible.

BOWLING ACTIVITY

The activities at the Westlake Bowl and Serra Bowl in Daly City and Sea Bowl in Pacifica are prepared weekly for the Post by staff members of each business. Inquiries should be directed to them, rather than the Post.

Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Westlake Junior bowlers are making plans for their invasion of San Diego on the weekend of July 26-27 when they compete in the California State Junior Bowling Association 4th Annual Championship Tournament. The two-day event will leave the Westlake Bowl at 9 a.m. July 26 and return at midnight July 27.

The bowlers will be staying at the Fabulous Five-Seven Motel in El Cajon. They will bowl their team event at the La Mesa Bowl in La Mesa at 9 a.m. Saturday and the doubles and singles events at the Parkway Bowl in El Cajon at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Many parents are planning to fly or drive to San Diego to watch their children compete against the junior bowlers from all parts of California.

Westlake Bowl will be represented by 95 junior bowlers.

Connie Rodriguez and Boots Toohay led the Junior team to a new high game and series. Rodriguez rolled a 222 and Toohay a 204 game. Fred Holwein took top honors in the 99ers Mixed Fives League for the week by shooting a 206 game and a 578 series. Elaine Winters led the ladies with a 161 game and 441 series.

Serra Bowl

By EMMY STODOLA

New Year's Eve in Hawaii on the 3rd of July! Well you can believe it, I was there. Right here at Serra Bowl we had a good time. "Ed Maille and his Islanders" really put on show, the girls were gorgeous and could they dance. Our regular dance group "Soul Syndicate" were also here for those who couldn't hula.

We missed some scores from the FRI-DAY COACHES on June 21, so I will report them now. Maureen Ores with a 116 average had a nice 207 game and 431 series. Nancy Righetti 173-54 and Phyllis Duckworth 155-57. In the Coca Cola League Jerry DeHana had a nice 192-55 to be high for the night. Dick Gallo led the way 207-57 in the Fair and Squares followed by Bob Hase 194-54 and the girls, Betty Anderson shot a real nice 239 game for a 470 series and Anita Lanzarini 191-57.

The Darlene Jones League saw Maureen Ores come back with 142-50-15-519 and Lori Rigney 183-503.

Pat Gaugre led the leader in the Tournament Club with 176-522, then Kitten Griffin 203-520, Marian Mann 205-516 and Carol Miles 201-520. Nice going girls. The leaders in The Builders League were Chris Stuh 207-530 and Tony Medeiros 191-511.

In the V I P S League it was Ron Di Maggio 205-527, Terry Picardo 215-542 and John Kornfeld 222-518. Louise Harvey led the way for the Ladies with a nice 215-511 series.

Rec Department Bowling Planned

The Daly City Recreation Department, through the cooperation of the Westlake Bowl, has an opportunity to offer local children between eight and 12 years of age the chance to learn bowling at no cost.

Two four-week programs, consisting of eight lessons and practice sessions, will be offered to children between 8 and 12 years of age.

Each program will be limited to 100 children. All registration must be taken in advance. No transportation will be provided, and preference will be given to children with parental transportation to and from the Bowl.

The sessions will be at Westlake Bowl on Tuesday and Thursday and Wednesdays and Fridays at 10 a.m. beginning August 6 and ending August 30. Children will be expected to attend all sessions in the program.

In which they enroll. However, each child may participate in only one of the two four-week programs. An instructor will be provided for every eight children.

The lessons will last approximately from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The purpose of this program is to teach children to bowl properly and interest them in an activity in which they can participate throughout their lives.

The only requirement is that the children be at the Bowl at the specified time. Only the first 100 in each program will be able to participate but others may be placed on an alternate list and contacted if openings arise.

All persons interested in participating in this program should contact their local playground leader to obtain the necessary registration forms. Further information can be obtained by contacting the Recreation Department at 992-5356.

A Broken Nose, But Won Anyway

Not many attending the recent Miss South San Francisco Beauty Pageant would have guessed the smiling winner, Ramona Skola, had a traumatic experience prior to the show. Her carefree countenance concealed concern, far removed from the gala event.

Five days before the pageant the slender blonde sustained injuries in an auto mishap, returning from classes at College of San Mateo. She suffered a fractured nose, in three places, facial cuts and bruises on the arms and legs.

In addition X-rays taken to determine damage to her nose revealed she had a skull tumor, according to her mother, Mrs.

Lillian Skola. "Medical opinions indicate the skull tumor is a possible birth defect," Mrs. Skola stated.

"If they hadn't taken the X-rays of Ramona's nose they would never have found the skull tumor," Mrs. Skola reported. "She has always been a healthy youngster," her mother continued. "It was a great shock to me and I'm glad Ramona took it like she did."

According to reports from San Mateo General Hospital surgery was not advised at this time. Maybe in 15-20 years, if anything develops," Mrs. Skola disclosed, "it could affect her sense of balance."

Just two weeks ago Ramona underwent surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco to restore her nose to normal functioning, Mrs. Skola said.

Convincing at home, 368 Heather Way, Miss South San Francisco 1968 plans to continue with her education at College of San Mateo in the fall. Her major is interior design.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals

Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly

Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition.

Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Jeff High Plans Pilot Classes In Negro History This Fall

Jefferson High School in Daly City will offer pilot courses in Negro and Latin-American history next year, Dr. Harold C.

Tonini, assistant Jefferson High School District superintendent for instruction, has disclosed. The two courses — to be offered senior students — are among a number of pilot classes to be included in the curriculum of the four district high schools, Tonini said.

The pilot courses will include: At Oceana, Pacifica — Introduction to industry, freshmen; small engines, juniors and seniors; auto shop for girls, seniors; Shakespeare, seniors; English survey, seniors; English review and composition, seniors.

At Terra Nova, Pacifica — College preparatory writing for seniors; contemporary reading, sophomores and seniors; art seminar, sophomores and seniors; world affairs and Far East history, sophomores and seniors.

At Jefferson, Daly City — English lab, sophomores and seniors; Negro history, seniors; Latin American history, seniors. At Westmoor, Daly City — creative writing, juniors and seniors; Bible as literature, juniors and seniors.

Set Probation Office Soon

An office of the San Mateo County Probation Department is scheduled to be opened soon in Daly City.

Lease of quarters at 6717 Mission Street was approved yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

Henry P. Tarratt, director of building construction and general services, told the board that an office for the adult division of the department is needed because several hundred probationers live in the northern part of the county and in San Francisco.

Servicing these cases from the Redwood City office has been time-consuming and expensive, Tarratt said. The north county office, he told the board, will be more economical to operate, both from the standpoint of time and money, particularly so in view of the recent opening of the new Municipal Court department in Daly City.

Another advantage of the move, Tarratt pointed out, will be to relieve some of the overcrowding in the Redwood City office.

The building to be rented is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hartley R. Appleton. Rental is to be $400 a month on a three-year lease.

The term of the lease coincides with the lease on the old City Hall where the new court is located.

Drugs, $1,000 Is D.C. Loot

Two bold gunmen last week staged a daring daylight holdup in a Daly City pharmacy and escaped with a small quantity of drugs, and more than $1,000.

Early morning diners continued to sip their coffee apparently unaware that only a few feet away the two gunmen were in the process of holding up Lee's Pharmacy on Mission Street.

The pharmacy is separated from an adjoining restaurant by a wooden partition.

Bearded Gunman

On one side of the separation two armed gunmen, one bearded and in his late twenties, held three customers at bay while forcing clerk Raymond Belcher of Burlingame to open a special storage cabinet where the narcotics were locked up.

In the restaurant section, customers were not aware of the stickup, police said.

Both men fled the store in a white compact car after grabbing an undetermined quantity of codeine and morphine, plus an estimated $1,000 in cash and checks, police said.

Witnesses told police the men walked into the busy store shortly after 9 a.m. and quietly ordered the clerk to hand over all the money and drugs.

Speed Toward S.F.

After the pair grabbed the money and drugs they raced from the store, hopped into a waiting car and sped toward San Francisco, a witness told police.

Only the bearded gunman was armed, police said. Both were described as Caucasian in their late twenties.

Daly City Man Found Dead

A former Daly City man, apparently despondent about the break-up of his marriage, was found dead in his car on San Bruno Mountain near Daly City Thursday.

In the auto was a suicide message to his baby daughter. "I'll never see you again Denise ...," it started.

A coroner's investigator said the victim, Malcolm Alvin Mitchell III, 24, appeared to have rigged up an elaborate device to pump deadly carbon monoxide fumes into his car. He had cut a hole in the exhaust pipe and inserted another pipe leading through the floorboards. An empty pill bottle was also found in the car. An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death.

The note went on to blame himself for the failure of his marriage. The investigator said Mitchell's estranged wife, Mina, lives in El Sobrante. Her divorce from Mitchell was soon due to become final, he said.

Mitchell's body was discovered at 4:20 p.m. by a motorcyclist, George A. Kell, 29, of 575 Sylvan Street, Daly City. The car was parked in a grove of trees off Guadalupe Canyon Parkway three-fourths of a mile west of Radio Road. Mitchell had been dead about six to eight hours, the investigator said.

County Delays TV Franchise

Action on the application of Western TV Cable Company for a franchise in the Broadmoor area was delayed last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Members of the board said they did not want to pass on the application without checking with Daly City officials. The public hearing was continued to 3:15 p.m. next Tuesday and Daly City was asked to send a representative.

Paul F. Kelly, attorney for the applicant, said Western TV Cable, which is serving South San Francisco now, discovered that Broadmoor and its 1,600 homes had been "left out in the cold" as far as community antenna television services are concerned. He told the board that California Cable Communications, the franchisee in Daly City, has made no effort to move into Broadmoor.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair pointed out, however, that Broadmoor is "surrounded" by Daly City and is within its "sphere of influence."

St. Clair said that Daly City is seeking a review of the entire cable TV picture, and that he felt it only fair to consult with city officials before acting on the Broadmoor application. Daly City and the franchise holder are presently involved in a court dispute. The company is under a temporary court restraining order forbidding it to make any more cable connections or any more subscriptions until the dispute is settled.

'Decent County Housing' Report Due

A coalition of organizations "concerned with decent housing" in San Mateo County will soon issue a report on the County's Housing Authority.

Members of the organizations have been trying for two years to have the five commissioners and the director of the authority "really begin the job for which they exist."

This has led to a study of the authority, its staff and commissioners. "We have looked into what they have been doing for the last 25 years and what they could have been doing," a statement says.

"The abrupt attempt to discharge Robert Manning has made it imperative that the results of the study be made available before the next meeting of the commissioners, scheduled for July 16."

It continues, "by then, we will publish a report, a series of charges and recommendations." Manning is director of the County's Rental Assistance Program funded by the federal government.

The groups had intended to wait until after the successful launching of the Rental Assistance Program, which would have been in September. But, if Manning goes, the program is probably doomed, they feel.

The public statements of Director Frank Bloom, and of Gaston Periat, a commissioner, and the reported way in which the firing incident was handled are just one sign of the deep problem which will have to be brought to the public's attention, the statement continues.

The Mid-Peninsula Christian Ministry appointed a task group in October, 1966, to study the Housing Authority and to en-

Speech Talent Lands Fair Post

Pat Lang, a 20-year-old College of San Mateo graduate and resident of San Mateo, is the new "Voice of the Fair" for the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

As "Voice of the Fair" Pat will announce upcoming events and keep fairgoers posted on the various displays and exhibits. She will be "on the air" in the afternoons and at night during the Fair's 13-day run—July 29 through August 10.

A multi-talented young lady, Pat was chosen primarily because of her accomplishments in the field of speech. Last April she won the junior college state championship in speech analysis.

Dr. Merrill Hansen, a speech instructor of the College of San Mateo, calls Pat "one of the most able students in the interpretive region of speech that I have ever had." He also commented, "She has a natural talent and an astounding depth of feeling which make her more able than most of the women on the air now."

Pat plans to continue in this area next year at San Francisco State College where she will major in speech and minor in drama. While attending S.F. State she hopes to receive an elementary teaching credential, a specialization credential which would enable her to teach physically handicapped children. Eventually, she hopes to win her Masters Degree from State.

"If it came to a choice between acting and teaching," Pat pointed out, "I think I would choose acting. That way I would have my teaching credentials as insurance."

Although eventually she would like to try acting on the stage, Pat wants to do some radio and television work first. "I'd like to do one of those relaxed, music-oriented shows such as the ones on KSAN (an FM radio station)."

Working for the Fiesta as "Voice of the Fair," she feels, will give her some of the necessary exposure and experience to continue in either one of her chosen careers.

On the nonprofessional level, Pat enjoys sewing and says that she makes almost all of her own clothes. She is also an arts and crafts enthusiast. "I enjoy just taking old pieces of wood and rocks and making something useful out of them."

In spite of her many interests and goals in life, the new "Voice of the Fair" believes that her education comes first.

MEREDITH C. REA has been named western regional manager by Prodelin, Inc., manufacturers of antennas, transmission lines and oceanographic equipment. He will be based in the company's San Carlos facility. He resides in Belmont with his wife and three children.

Old Store Is Attracting Area Youth

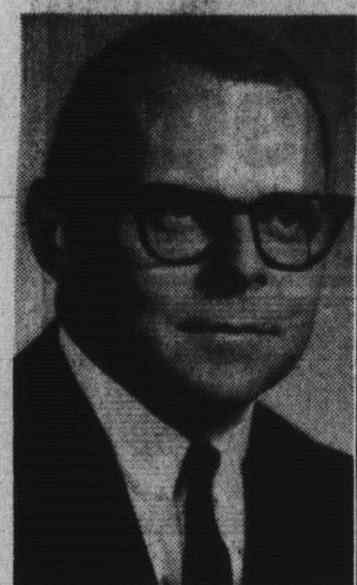

The Woodside Store, Old Tripp Store, located in Woodside is being visited by the many youth groups attending the day camp at Huddart County Park and the school summer sessions being held throughout the county.

Many county residents bring their vacationing relatives and friends to see the historical reminder of the early logging, lumbering, and gold rush day of San Mateo County.

The store contains the Old Dental Office of the 1850's and many historical items used by the thousands of lumbermen in the area.

The store is being restored as the General Store it was in the 1860-1870 period. Curator, Mrs. Earl Walsh, guides the visitors through the store which is open Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Reservations for groups can be made by calling the county office, 369-1441, Extension 486.

A free brochure can be had by writing to the County Parks and Recreation Director, Ralph Shaw, County Government Center, Redwood City.

WILLIAM H. DONOVAN, West Coast mutual fund manager, has been elected an assistant vice president of Walston & Co., Inc., nation-wide investment firm. He and wife Joan and their three children live at 636 Forty-second Avenue, San Mateo.

Penn Mutual Moves To Borel Center

Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company has moved its Bay Area district group insurance and pension offices to San Mateo's Borel Place Office Center, according to David K. Broadhead of San Mateo, district manager.

The district headquarters, relocated from San Francisco, are in the new 1650 Borel Place office building.

The office is responsible for coordinating activities of 200 Penn Mutual agents in Northern California, Oregon and Washington and providing technical assistance in the design of employee benefit programs.

Penn Mutual, with headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa., has 17 district offices in the U.S., serving more than 1800 agents. The firm has maintained a Bay Area District office for seven years, moving to San Mateo to centralize operations in the Bay Area.

Also in the Borel Place office are Louis J. Costello, group and pension representative and Virginia McKeel, inside sales assistant, both of San Mateo.

Penn Mutual is the 45th major business firm to locate in the Borel Place executive complex since it opened in 1963.

Lenkurt Service Pins To Mateans

Two San Mateo residents are Mrs. Fern Hart, 3929 Casanova Drive, and Stanley Lew, 5 Westpoint Place, both receiving five-year pins.

Mrs. Hart is a production worker in filter assembly and Lew is manager of the systems and procedures department.

Two San Carlos residents are John Hancock, 249 Clifton Avenue and Mrs. Faye Kelley, 925 Walnut Street, both receiving five-year pins.

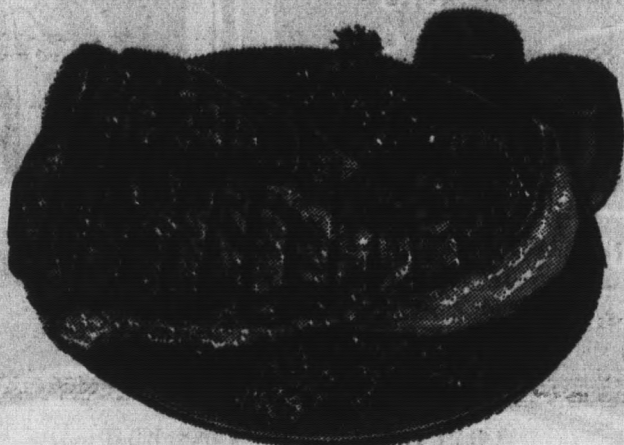

Hancock is manager of the traffic department and Mrs. Kelley is a production worker in the transformer department.

Miss Elizabeth Kahoawai, 641 County Road, Belmont, is receiving a five-year pin. Miss Kahoawai is an accountant assistant in the payroll department.

Road Bids Are Opened

The California State Division of Highways recently announced the opening of bids on two road improvement projects in San Mateo County.

A division report said Granite Construction Company of Watsonville had submitted a low bid of $19,620.50 for construction of left turn storage lanes on Route One at Pescadero Road and Pescadero Beach of San Mateo Beaches State Park, about 13 miles south of Half Moon Bay.

In the other project, Chevron Painting Company of Union City will receive $11,031 for placing plain and reflective pavement markers on 2.6 miles of Route 92 in San Mateo between West Hillsdale Boulevard undercrossing and two-tenths of a mile east of South Delaware Street undercrossing.

Jewelry And Cash Taken

Several hundred dollars worth of jewelry and $350 in cash were taken from a South San Francisco residence in a daytime burglary Monday, police reported.

Officers said the home of Elmer Morgan, 3280 Oakmont Avenue, was broken into between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday while occupants were away. Entrance was gained through forcing sliding doors.

Enjoy Tasty Shellfish Delicacies on Your Table in the Months Ahead

Enjoy shellfish in the months ahead. Melted butter, wine and fruit make delightful repasts of the delicacies.

Preceding shrimps Mediterranean or shrimps de Jonghe, serve chilled melon. The markets are featuring Spanish and honeydew melons now. A green salad, soft or crusty rolls and dessert will round out the meal.

SHRIMPS MEDITERRANEAN

- 2 pounds fresh shrimp
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1-3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup chopped parsley
- 1 (8 ounces) package herb seasoned stuffing
- 1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
- 1 cup liquid
- 1/4 pound butter
- 6 lemon wedges

Rinse shrimp in cold water; remove shells and devein. Arrange shrimp on shallow baking pan. Refrigerate until ready to use. Combine oil, garlic salt and parsley; sprinkle over shrimp. Broil four inches from source of heat for five minutes on each side, depending on size of shrimp.

Meanwhile, prepare stuffing according to package directions, using liquid from mushrooms plus enough water to measure 1 cup. Add mushrooms. Divide stuffing evenly on six scallop shells or small casserole dishes. Top with broiled shrimp and any remaining seasoned oil. Return to broiler with reduced heat or bake in hot oven until stuffing is heated through, about five minutes.

SHRIMP DE JONGHE

Mash one clove garlic to a paste and mix with one-third teaspoon each finely chopped tarragon, parsley, chervil, shallot and onion. Add this to a generous one-half cup of sweet butter together with one cup sieved bread crumbs, blending and creaming thoroughly. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a dash each of nutmeg, mace and thyme and then add one-half cup dry sherry. In six generously buttered individual casseroles, shells or ramekins, arrange alternate layers of two pounds shelled shrimp cooked in court bouillon and the bread crumbs. Top with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Court bouillon for fish:

Bring to a boil one quart water with one small onion stuck with two cloves, one slice lemon, four peppercorns, one-half bay leaf, the top leafy half of a stalk of celery, two or three sprigs parsley and one and one-half teaspoons salt. Simmer this for 15 minutes.

SHRIMP DE JONGHE

- 2 pounds shrimp
- 4 to 6 slices white bread
- cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 teaspoon dried crushed thyme
- 1/4 teaspoon dried crushed tarragon
- 1/4 teaspoon dried chives
- 1/4 teaspoon dried parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon tabasco
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/4 cup reserved court bouillon

Cook peeled and deveined shrimp in boiling court bouillon two to five minutes. Drain, reserving cooking liquid. Trim crusts from bread; break apart and blend very quickly, a few pieces at a time, in an electric blender. Without a blender, tear with fingers to form small crumbs. Use enough bread to make one and one-half cups lightly packed crumbs. Blend softened butter or margarine with remaining ingredients. Stir in bread crumbs. Divide herbed butter in half. Spread one-half of the butter over bottoms of four individual ramekins or baking dishes (about five inches in diameter) or over bottom of baking dish (6 by 9 inches). Arrange shrimp on herbed butter; spread remaining butter over shrimp. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) 10 minutes.

SHRIMP IN SOUR CREAM

Shell one and one-half pounds raw shrimp, devein and wash. Saute in one-third cup butter for a minute or two. Add one-half pound fresh mushrooms, peeled, sliced, and cook for five to eight minutes. Heat one and one-half cups sour cream to the boiling point. Season it to taste with salt, pepper and two teaspoons soy sauce. Add a pinch of paprika. Add the seasoned cream to the shrimp mixture. Blend well and cook over a gentle flame until the sauce is thick and smooth. Divide the shrimp and sauce among six buttered ramekins or shells. Sprinkle with grated parmesan or swiss cheese and glaze under the broiler.

SEAFOOD IN CREAM SAUCE

LEFTOVER FISH or seafood becomes special when added to a rich cream sauce. Prepare about two thick cups behamel or mornay sauce and one-half cup fresh mushrooms, peeled, thinly sliced, and sauteed in butter. Add a little sherry or madeira to the sauce and then the cooked fish. Spoon into scallop shells or ramekins. Top with buttered crumbs or sprinkle with grated swiss cheese mixed with grated parmesan and brown under the broiler.

SHELLFISH SERVED WITH MELTED BUTTER

wine and fresh grapefruit arcs makes a luscious yet light first course. Open a fifth of dry white wine and poach the scallops in part of it. Pour the remainder (and probably another fifth) of the chilled wine when you serve the dish.

Garnish scallops with watercress sprigs. Serve buttered toast strips alongside. You can poach the scallops and arrange for baking ahead of time, and bake just before serving.

WINE SCALLOPS

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh scallops
- 1 1/2 cups dry white wine
- 2 large grapefruit, peeled and cut into sections, removing membrane
- 1/2 cup melted butter

Salt
Paprika
Rinse and drain scallops. Put into saucepan with wine. Bring to a boil, then simmer, covered for about four minutes. Drain scallops and cut crosswise into one-quarter inch thick slices. Arrange scallops and grapefruit in six buttered scallop shells or individual baking dishes (or in a single shallow heatproof platter). Pour butter over scallops and fruit. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for five minutes or until thoroughly heated.

THE NAME FOR SCALLOPS in French is actually petoncle, but coquilles Saint-Jacques is the name scallops go by in France.

COQUILLES SAINT JACQUES

MELT TWO tablespoons butter on a saucepan and add one tablespoon chopped shallot, six to eight mushrooms, sliced, one-half cup dry white wine and one pound scallops. Bring the liquid to a boil and simmer the scallops for no more than five or six minutes, otherwise they will be rubbery. Add about 12 medium cooked diced shrimp and heat all together for two minutes. Remove scallops, shrimp and mushrooms and reduce the liquid to about two or three tablespoons. Prepare two cups mornay sauce and strain the sauce through a fine sieve. Combine one and one-third cups of the sauce with the scallops, shrimp and mushrooms, add one tablespoon chopped parsley and correct seasoning with salt. Pour the mixture into six scallop shells. Add two tablespoons whipped cream to the remaining mornay sauce and spread the sauce over the filled shells. Sprinkle with a little grated parmesan or swiss and brown under the broiler or in a very hot oven.

BRASIED STUFFED SHOULDER OF LAMB

Elegant shoulder of lamb is stuffed with finely rolled mint wafers and ham, delicately flavored with lemon and mint. Delicious hot with gravy or cold with jellied consommé and green bean vinaigrette.

- 3 tablespoons buttery flavor oil
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion

Quick, Easy, Nutritious Casserole

When the action is at full swing and time runs short, Mom needs a quick, easy but still delicious and nutritious meal to keep all those spirits high. Here is a handy recipe for a quick tamale pie type Chili-Corn Casserole. It is topped with protein-filled cottage cheese cornbread balls for added flavor and energy. Recipe makes 6 servings.

- 2 cans (15 ounces each) chili con carne with beans
 - 1 can (12 ounces) Mexican style corn
 - 1 cup (½ pint) cottage cheese, cup water
 - 1 cup corn bread mix
- In shallow 2-quart casserole combine canned chili and corn. In a bowl, blend together the cottage cheese and water; add corn bread mix and stir until all ingredients are moistened. Spoon small balls on top of chili mixture. Top with pimiento strips, if desired. Bake in hot, 425 degree, oven 30 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

Balance The Wearing Out

A healthy body represents a happy balance between the wearing out of old cells and the replacement or building of new ones with protein which is the essential ingredient in this continuous process. The basic tools used to implement the proper use of protein are amino acids of which there are twenty-two.

Ten of these, which are called the "essential amino acids," are not manufactured by the body and yet without them the body cannot synthesize protein to its best advantage.

The answer is in having available the proper "protein maintenance crews" in the form of an adequate diet. It is a well known nutritional fact that milk, meat and eggs biologically contain these ten essential amino acids which are the basic requirements if the aforementioned "protein maintenance crews" are to do their best work keeping the cells in tip-top shape twenty-four hours a day.

The auto caught fire and the blaze was doused by Pacifica firemen.

Coastside Wife Beaten, Jail Spouse

Wilford Orlando Madrid, 24-year-old Pescadero laborer, was booked at county jail on felony wife-beating charges early day.

Sheriff's Deputies Jack Gerhardt and Jack Davidson said the beating took place in the Madrid apartment in the Blueview Apartments on Pigeon Point Road.

Mrs. Kathy Ann Madrid, 22, told the deputies that her husband, who had been drinking, returned to the apartment early today and started beating and kicking her for no reason at all.

Other residents of the apartment house said they heard the commotion and ran to the apartment in time to see Madrid kick his wife in the stomach at least three times.

Mrs. Madrid was taken to County General Hospital for treatment.

D.C. Fireman Wins CSM Certificate

Robert Barbanica of the Daly City Fire Department was the recipient of a 15-unit college certificate at a recognition dinner given recently at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo.

Some 50 other firemen of San Mateo County received similar awards at the same time.

The courses taken are part of the fire science curriculum established at the college by the San Mateo County Fire Chiefs' Association.

Firemen attend evening classes during their off-duty time.

Also attending the dinner, representing the City of Daly City, were Councilman Michael DeBernardi, and Fire Chief Herbert Ritzmann.

Over 1300 students are enrolled for this year's South San Francisco Unified School District secondary summer session.

Over 1000 pupils in grades 10 through 12 have registered at El Camino High School and over 300 pupils in grades 8 and 9 are enrolled at Parkway Junior High.

This represents an increase over last year's enrollment of 125 high school and 50 junior high pupils.

The majority of senior high students have selected acceleration courses during the summer session. These courses include such subjects as algebra, geometry, chemistry, biology, government, economics, English, world and U.S. history and safety education.

Other students are enrolled in enrichment courses and make-up or improvement courses. The enrichment program includes arts and crafts, ceramics, dressmaking and design, personal use typing, theater workshop and advanced physical education. The advanced physical education class is conducted on the South San Francisco High School and Parkway campuses in addition to the El Camino campus. A total of 116 boys are enrolled in the three sections.

Junior high enrichment courses include math problem solving, typing, sewing, theater workshop, speed reading and sports workshop.

This summer's enrollment continues the trend of increases averaging 10 per cent over the past six years. As the trend continues it will become necessary to utilize facilities of both high schools during the seven-week session, officials say.

Fire Begins in Hobby Area—Home Is Damaged

Fire believed to have started in a basement hobby area caused an estimated $9,500 damage at the Daly City residence of Henry Dadlio early Friday.

A basement garage and the rear exterior of the Dadlio home at 169 Westlake Avenue were damaged severely, a Daly City fire department spokesman said.

Firemen said the 1 o'clock blaze appeared to have originated in Dadlio's television repair area in the basement garage.

Dadlio told firemen he repaired old television sets as a hobby, the spokesman explained.

What caused the fire remains undetermined.

There was some fire extension to the upstairs through heater vents, it was reported, however damage to the rest of the house apparently was slight.

The blaze was "pretty much" confined to the garage, the fire department said.

Damage there was estimated at $7,000 to the building and $2,500 to contents.

Owner of the house is Gail Fessenrten, firemen said.

3 Advertising-Promotion Awards for Times-Post

Three major national awards have been won recently by The Times and Post in the field of advertising sales and promotion.

Two of the honors came within a 24-hour period last week.

On Thursday Classified Advertising Manager Margaret Buschini was notified that The Times had won the coveted first place award for promotion at the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers convention meeting in Baltimore, Md. The award is sponsored by Editor and Publisher, national newspaper trade magazine, for daily newspapers under 50,000 circulation.

One day later at the California Newspaper Advertising Executives convention at Lake Tahoe, Douglas Bush, retail advertising manager was presented that organization's award for best sales presentation for daily newspapers over 30,000 circulation.

In May The Times was notified that it had been awarded a Certificate of Merit for best retail advertising promotion, one of two such nationwide awards given by Editor and Publisher for newspapers under 100,000 circulation. The competition was among members of the International Newspaper Promotion Association, which was holding its international convention in Rochester, N.Y.

The classified award was based on The Times efforts in promoting the real estate market and developing advertising sales. The entry included monthly newsletters sent to the real estate brokers, special real estate editions plus the weekly Saturday section, mailings, banners for local brokers and other promotional materials.

This marks the fourth year that The Times classified department has claimed the A.N.C.A.M. national first place award for promotion.

The California advertising executives "best sales presentation" award was won with The Times 1968 market book, entitled "Focus on San Mateo County."

Researched and compiled by John Clinton, administrative Times assistant, the presentation included a statistical picture of the San Mateo county market, as well as sales facts on The Times and The Post newspapers. This was one of only five such awards given in open competition among all California newspapers.

The Certificate of Merit for best retail advertising promotion was given in international competition among the more than 800 member newspapers of the I.N.P.A. The winning entry included sales tools, surveys and mailing pieces prepared and developed by the retail advertising department, working with the promotion and research department. Among the materials included in the entry were "Trade Topics," The Times monthly newsletter to merchants, a "Profile of Times Readers," a six-month sales calendar and a mailing piece on the effect of new higher postal rates on retail advertisers.

'FANTASY FAIRYLAND,' a local creation of the Burton and Dorie sisters of Colma, won a second place in float judging at Broadmoor Village's annual Fourth of July parade sponsored by Daly City VFW Post 9213 and Broadmoor Property Owners' Association.

West 'O' Twin Peaks VFW Post entry won "best float" award. Shakey's Pizza placed first in novelty floats. Parade marshal was KYA disc jockey Tom Campbell and Miss Linda Tucker was parade queen.

Suspect Is Captured By Pacifica Man

A South San Francisco youth was arrested Thursday after a Pacifica resident overpowered and disarmed him following a footrace in the fog.

The suspect, 18-year-old Manuel Guerrero, of 720 Third Lane, South San Francisco, assertedly was one of two persons caught in the act of burglarizing the home of his captor, John Ellis, of 423 Inverness Avenue, Pacifica.

Pacifica police said Ellis awakened shortly before 6 a.m. to find Guerrero and another youth, who got away, in the process of removing articles from his home.

They already had taken a tape recorder, police alleged, and had re-entered the Ellis home for other items. They had gained entry through a rear door to the home.

Confronted downstairs by Ellis, the two youths fled south on Inverness. One of them managed to elude Ellis as he ran after them. But Ellis overtook Guerrero about four houses south of his own home.

Guerrero, police asserted, then pulled out a large-handled knife, with a 7 1/2-inch blade. Ellis, despite this threat, hit the youth and took away the knife, holding Guerrero until police arrived.

Ellis' wife had called police as her husband chased the pair.

Bruno Off On Building

Construction in San Bruno in the first six months of 1968 fell considerably short of the $8-138,136 valuation record for the same period in 1967.

The monthly report of the San Bruno Building Inspection Department indicates a valuation of $887,232, from 224 permits, since January of this year.

Photographer's Works Shown At D.C. Library

The work of photographer Roy Figone constitutes a one-man show at the Westlake Branch of the Daly City Public Library.

The show consists of seventeen portraits in black and white, each chosen to illustrate Mr. Figone's belief that photography is a fine art.

Figone has had previous shows at Jefferson High School and at the College of San Mateo. His work has been part of the 1966, 1968 Spring Show at the San Francisco Art Institute.

Figone's first contact with photography as an art form came from a class in photography at Jefferson High School. Since then he has studied at the College of San Mateo and at the San Francisco Art Institute.

SACRAMENTO (PCNS) — A measure revising the formula for apportioning revenue from the new cigarette tax, to cities and counties giving consideration to population as well as sales, has cleared the Senate Finance Committee.

Both opponents and supporters of the measure agreed that the key battle for the bill was in the committee. While it must still be approved by the Senate, the measure will have the support of legislators from the large communities as well as the heavy population centers with limited business and industrial centers.

By exempting the 39 charter cities which levied a tax on cigarette sales prior to imposition of a statewide tax last year, the author eliminated much of his opposition. The bill is authored by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman (R-La Canada).

Lanterman contends that the cigarette tax formula as it is now applied favors those cities with limited population but larger sales centers — where residents of nearby communities must come to get their cigarettes.

Opponents, led by Telfer Wright, administrative officer for the city of El Monte, contend that "bedroom" communities are usually wealthier than those with larger commercial centers.

"They have by their very nature resisted development of an effective commercial center and refused development of heavy industry," Wright charged. He said that as such the cities with large populations but no business center have "forfeited their right to demand a return as great as communities who maintain and service shopping areas and industry."

"The cost of servicing industry and the jobs we supply enable those 'bedroom' communities to retain the quiet residential character they want," he said. "They can't have it both ways, no business and the benefits of a high sales tax, too."

A Gunman Robs Bruno Business

Forcing the owners and two workers to lay face down on an office floor, a lone gunman robbed Kentucky Fried Chicken, 1789 El Camino Real, in San Bruno, of an undisclosed amount of money shortly after closing time Saturday.

San Bruno police said the owners of the business, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bisko were in the office while two employees, Charles Hughes, 19, and Gene Baumann, 18, were cleaning up, when a man in his early twenties armed with a blue-steel revolver entered through the rear door at 11 p.m.

"This is a hold up!" the man said. "I want the money. We're going to do this nice and quiet."

He told Hughes and Baumann to get into the office.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I want your wallets, too."

Bisko, 46, who had just come to the business to pick up his wife, had the only wallet, and police said the suspect took it and some $90 it contained.

"I want you to lay on your face on the office floor," the gunman demanded, adding: "Stay here as long as you want, but I wouldn't advise you to leave too soon."

The gunman took a paper cup full of money from a table in the office and fled.

The amount of money in the cup was not disclosed, police said.

A white-over-blue car was seen by witnesses entering the parking lot shortly before the holdup and again immediately afterward, police noted.

The car left the lot at "a high rate of speed," authorities were told.

Special Aid Bill Is Law

Governor Ronald Reagan has signed into law a bill which gives special school aid to districts which have difficulty assessing student population in advance.

Assemblyman Frank Murphy (R-Santa Cruz), author of the bill, said school districts encompassing military bases have a special problem because of the rapid transfer of personnel and dependents.
